INDIA STRIKES NINE TERROR SITES IN PAKISTAN, POJK

Missile strikes were carried out targeting specific locations in steps that were measured, focused and non-escalatory in nature: Govt

NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

A fortnight after 26 tourists were gunned down in Pahalgam by Pakistan-sponsored terrorists, India launched Operation Sindoor to avenge the killings. Targeting nine sites harbouring terrorists in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Jammu and Kashmir (PoJK), Indian Armed Forces launched a post-midnight strike which lasted for 25 minutes.

A statement from the Ministry of Defence stated that the strike, which was carried out in the intervening night of 6-7 May, was focused, measured and non-escalatory in nature. "No Pakistani military facilities have been targeted. India has demonstrated considerable restraint in selection of targets and method of execution," an army spokesperson had stated while announcing the strikes.

Justifying Operation Sindoor, Indian Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri said that it was carried out to avenge the deaths of 26 tourists' deaths in Pahalgam by Pakistan sponsored terrorists on 22 April. "The attack in Pahalgam

The strike on the terror camps was undertaken through precision capability, using niche technology weapons with careful selection of warheads that ensured no collateral damage. The point of impact in each of the targets was a specific building or a group of buildings, according to a defence spokesperson.

The selection of targets for strike operation was based on credible intelligence inputs and role of these facilities in perpetrating terror activities, according to the spokesperson. The locations were selected with due diligence to avoid damage to civilian installations and loss of civilian lives.

India carried out strikes against 9 terror camps of Hizb-ul-Mujahideen (HM), Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) and Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) located in both Pakistan and Pakistan occupied Jammu and Kashmir.

was marked by extreme barbarity, with the victims mostly killed with head-shots from close range and in front of their families. Family members were deliberately traumatized through the manner of the killing, accompanied by the exhortation that they should take back the message," Mr Misri said while addressing a media briefing, hours after the strike. "The manner of the attack was also driven by an objective of provoking communal discord, both in Jammu and Kashmir and the rest of the Nation. It is to the credit of the government and the people of India that these designs were foiled," he added. "Our intelligence monitoring of Pakistan-based terrorist modules indicated that further attacks against India were impending. There was thus a compulsion both to deter and to pre-empt. Our actions were measured and non-escalatory, proportionate and responsible. They focused on dismantling terrorists' infrastructure," he said. In the highly secretive operation, India carried out strikes against 9 terror camps of Hizb-ul-Mujahidin (HM), Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) and Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) located in both Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Jammu and Kashmir. It included Markaz Subhan Allah, Bahawalpur - JeM, Markaz Taiba, Muridke - LeT, Sarjal, Tehra Kalan - JeM, Mehmoona Joya, Sialkot - HM, Markaz Ahle Hadith, Barnala - LeT, Markaz Abbas, Kotli - JeM, Maskar Raheel Shahid, Kotli - HM, Shawai Nalla Camp, Muzaffarabad - LeT, and Syedna Bilal Camp, Muzaffarabad - JeM.

Detailing the attack that was carried out in complete secrecy, Col Sofyia Qureshi said that it started at 1.05 am and was over by 1.30 am. "Over the last three decades Pakistan has systematically built terror infrastructure. It is a complex web of recruitment and indoctrination centres, training areas for initial and refresher courses and launch pads with handlers. These camps are located both in Pakistan and Pakistan occupied Jammu and Kashmir," said the officer.

PM calls off three-nation European tour in wake of escalating India-Pak tensions

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Prime Minister Narendra Modi has called off his scheduled three-nation European tour following Operation Sindoor against terror camps in Pakistan, a source said on Wednesday. The decision was taken in the wake of Operation Sindoor, a military strike launched by the Indian Armed Forces targeting terror camps in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Jammu and Kashmir. In a move seen as a retaliatory initiative to the Pahalgam terror attack that killed 25 Indian civilians and one Nepalese national, the Indian armed forces had early Wednesday carried out 24 precision missile strikes on nine terror targets in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Jammu and Kashmir, including Muridke and Bahawalpur, the strongholds of terror groups Lashkar-e-Taiba and Jaish-e-Mohammed, respectively. The prime minister's planned tour, which was to begin next week, was packed with key diplomatic engagements, and was set to include visits to Croatia, Norway, and the Netherlands. During his trip, Mr Modi was scheduled to attend the 3rd India-Nordic Summit in Oslo and hold discussions on high-tech collaboration in the Netherlands. The prime minister's visit to Norway had an added significance as both nations have been trying to expand trade relations under the India-EFTA Trade and Economic Partnership Agreement.

Four children among 15 killed, 57 injured as Pakistan targets civilians in Poonch

JAMMU, 7 MAY

A 7-year-old girl, a 10-year old boy, and two other minors were among at least fifteen people killed in indiscriminate artillery shelling by Pakistan Army on the civilian areas of the border district of Poonch on Wednesday while more than 57 people were injured. The Pakistani Army was shelling civilian areas of Poonch and other places along the Line of Control (LoC) and International Border (IB). The Indian Army is responding to the shelling in equal measure, official sources said on the ceasefire violations by Pakistani forces after India carried out missile strikes against nine terror targets in Pakistan and PoK. Ayan (14) and Aruba (12), son and daughter of one Rameez Khan, were killed in the Kalaani village that was heavily pounded. 7-year-old Maryam Khatoon was killed in the Qazi Mohra village. The Pakistani Army targeted civilian areas in Mendhar, Mankote, Balakote, Krishna Ghati, Sagra, and Shahpur Kirmi areas along the LoC and also Poonch town, resulting in damage to dozens of houses. Civilians were also targeted in North Kashmir's Uri. Three devotees were killed in a gurdwara, a Muslim cleric lost his life when a madrasa was shelled and two persons died near the Christ School in Poonch. Several residential houses have been damaged and many more civilians injured in different sectors of Poonch due to intense shelling by Pakistan, and their condition was stated to be stable. Nine civilians, including three children, were injured due to shelling in the Uri Sector of North Kashmir. Several houses have also been damaged in the area. The United Nations (UN) Field Station in the border town of Poonch was targeted with artillery shelling by Pakistan troops on Wednesday morning. They are trying to strike even UN assets along the Line of Control (LoC).

CBI chief gets one-year extension for want of consensus on successor

AGENCIES
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

The central government on Wednesday extended by one year the tenure of CBI director Praveen Sood after no consensus on his successor could be reached. The decision to this effect was approved by the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet, official sources said. Earlier this week, Prime Minister Narendra Modi chaired a meeting of the selection committee for the appointment of CBI Director. The meeting, held at the PMO, was attended by Chief Justice of India Sanjiv Khanna and Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi along with other government officials. However, no consensus could be reached on the issue. Sood, a 1986-batch IPS officer of the Karnataka cadre, would have completed his two-year term on May 24. The officer, who also served as DGP in Karnataka, took over as the new CBI director in May 2023 for a period of two years. He replaced Subodh Jaiswal, who was heading the premier probe agency at that point of time. CBI Director is appointed by the union government on the recommendation of a three-member appointment committee, which comprises the LoP in Lok Sabha and the Chief Justice of India. Prime Minister heads it. In 2019, the Supreme Court had directed that no officer with less than a tenure of six months remaining can be considered for the post of CBI Director.

Will wrap up tensions if India backs down: Pak defence minister

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Pakistan's Defence Minister Khawaja Asif has said that the current tensions and escalated confrontation between India and Pakistan can come to a halt only if New Delhi backs out of its aggressive position. Asif's remarks came after India launched 'Operation Sindoor', targeting nine locations in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK) striking alleged terror hideouts. Pakistan also claimed to have responded to Indian airstrikes with counter-offensive measures along the Line of Control (LoC). Speaking to Bloomberg, Mr Asif said that Pakistan holds the right to respond to any aggression by India, insisting that Islamabad "was only responding" to India's attacks and should not be seen as the aggressor in the current conflict. "This has been initiated by India. If India is ready to back down, we will definitely wrap up this tension," he said. "As long as we are under attack, under fire, we have to respond. We have to defend ourselves. But if India backs down, we will wrap up this tension", the Pakistani Defence

Minister added. Pakistan's Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) Director General Lt. General Ahmed Sharif Chaudhry said that at least 26 people have been killed and 46 others injured in the airstrikes that New Delhi stated were conducted on terror camps in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK) and Punjab province. The country has been put on a 'red alert', with government hospitals ready for any emergency; airspace for all domestic and international flights closed for at least 24 to 36 hours; all educational institutions in capital Islamabad and the Punjab province closed; and, all forces on stand by following the late night Indian airstrikes on terror hideouts in different parts of the country.

Sindoor Spilled, Justice Served: PM Modi chose code name to avenge Pahalgam massacre

Statesman News Service
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Sindoor, a symbol of marriage and purity, was the focal point of Operation Sindoor carried out by the armed forces to avenge the death of 26 tourists in Pahalgam by Pakistan-sponsored terrorists. Codenamed Operation Sindoor, the strike was carried out to eliminate nine terror bases located in Pakistan and Pakistan occupied Jammu and Kashmir.

In the intervening night of 6-7 May, a joint operation wiped the nine bases within 25 minutes. According to reports, the name for the Operation was chosen by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The massacre which unleashed at Pahalgam on 22 April, saw many wives losing their husbands, who were shot dead at point-blank range. A few of the couples were on their honeymoon in the picturesque valley barely days after their marriages.

U'khand deploys experts' team to tackle equine influenza among Kedarnath pack animals

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
DEHRADUN, 7 MAY

The Uttarakhand government has deployed a team of nearly 30 veterinary experts to combat a suspected outbreak of equine influenza among horses and mules engaged in pack animal services along the Kedarnath route during the ongoing Char Dham pilgrimage.

Equestrian services carrying devotees to the Kedarnath shrine were suspended for 24 hours on Monday night following the sudden death of 13 horses and mules from an unidentified illness.

The large-scale deployment of veterinary doctors and scientists was officially announced on Wednesday by the State Animal Husbandry Department, which aims to address the emerging threat of equine influenza affecting animals used for the pilgrimage.

Animal Husbandry Secretary BVRC Purushottam stated, "To deal with the present situation, the department has deployed a team comprising one Chief Veterinary Officer, two Deputy Chief Veterinary Officers, 22 veterinary doctors, and two scientists from the National Research Centre on Equines (NRCE) in Haryana."

"Additionally, two specialist doctors from Pantnagar Agriculture University, who were actively involved in controlling the disease during the 2009 outbreak, have also been posted in the affected area."

According to Purushottam, the first signs of equine influenza in Kedarnath's pack animals emerged after NRCE experts conducted blood sampling on March 26, 2025, in two villages of Rudrapur district.

Following preliminary positive results, approximately 16,000 horses and mules were screened. Of these, 152 samples tested positive for equine influenza, though the results were not confirmed by subsequent RT-PCR tests.

Purushottam added, "Now, all horses employed on the Kedarnath pilgrimage trek will undergo sampling, and only animals with negative test results will be allowed on the yatra route."

He noted that each year, around 2,000 to 3,000 horses and mules are brought to Kedarnath from neighbouring Uttar Pradesh for the Char Dham Yatra.

However, in light of the detected infection, a complete ban on the use of these animals has been imposed. The final decision on lifting the ban will rest with the district administration.

The Animal Husbandry Secretary clarified that equine influenza is not transmissible to humans but spreads rapidly among horses and mules.

Operation Sindoor: Northeast CMs laud cross-border action amid India-Pak tension

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
GUWAHATI, 7 MAY

Chief ministers from northeast India have voiced emphatic support for Operation Sindoor, a bold cross-border strike launched by the Indian armed forces on 7 May targeting terror camps in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK).

The operation comes in retaliation to the 22 April terror attack in Pahalgam, Jammu and Kashmir, which killed 26 tourists and injured many others — one of the deadliest attacks in recent years.

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma took to X with a terse but emotionally charged message: "Jai Hind #OperationSindoor".

Meghalaya Chief Minister Conrad K. Sangma declared: "India remembers and India fights back. There is no room for terrorism. Jai Hind."

Sikkim's Chief Minister Prem Singh Tamang called the operation a reflection of India's "unwavering resolve", adding: "Their courage protects our sovereignty and delivers justice to the grieving mothers of this nation."

Former Manipur CM N. Biren Singh, said: "The wounds of Pahalgam still ache, but today, justice has begun to answer. Jai Hind!" Arunachal Pradesh CM Pema Khandu kept it simple and stirring: "Bharat Mata Ki Jai #OperationSindoor."

Tripura CM Manik Saha echoed nationalistic fervour with: "Jai Hind Bharat Mata Ki Jai."

The latest military action marks a dramatic escalation in the already fraught relationship between India and Pakistan. The two nations have witnessed a precarious calm since the 2019 Balakot airstrikes, but the Pahalgam attack has jolted Indian security agencies into heightened preparedness.

Haryana launches statewide mock drill under 'Operation Abhyas' to strengthen disaster preparedness

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
CHANDIGARH, 7 MAY

Haryana Chief Secretary Anurag Rastogi on Wednesday chaired a meeting to review the arrangements for the mock drill under 'Operation Abhyas,' which will be conducted across all 22 districts in Haryana at 4 pm on Wednesday. As part of the drill, the general public has been asked to switch off all lights in their homes from 7:50 pm to 8 pm.

During the meeting, Rastogi issued comprehensive directives to all Deputy Commissioners (DCs) and Superintendents of Police (SPs) regarding the operational aspects of the mock drill.

He emphasised that the exercise would commence at key government installations, public sector units (PSUs), and other critical sites. Deputy Commissioners (DCs) have been instructed to activate their civil defence systems as part of this coordinated response.

The mock drill will be a joint effort involving Home Guards, Civil Defence volunteers, the police, NCC officers, and Aapada Mitras. The Chief Secretary reiterated that the aim of the exercise is preparation and precaution, not panic. He urged DCs to hold press conferences and inform the public that this is merely a preparatory drill, reassuring them there is no cause for concern.

Rastogi further instructed the DCs to encourage the public to promptly report any suspicious activities in their respective areas to the police and local authorities. Community leaders and prominent local figures should also be involved to help disseminate crucial information about the 'Dos and Don'ts' during the drill.

Additional Chief Secretary, Home, Dr Sumita Misra said the Civil Defence Mock Drill was mandated for 11 districts in Haryana. However, to strengthen the state's preparedness, the mock drill will be conducted in all districts of the state, starting at 4 pm with the sounding of a siren.

She said the state government has formally implemented the Incident Response System (IRS) at both the District and State levels under the Disaster Management Act, 2005. This initiative, which was notified on January 28, 2025, aims to streamline the response mechanism, reduce confusion during emergency situations, and minimise reliance on ad hoc measures. As part of the IRS structure, the Chief Secretary will serve as the Responsible Officer (RO), with the Financial Commissioner Revenue (FCR) and Additional Chief Secretary (ACS) for Revenue designated as the Incident Commander (IC).

Key roles, including District Incident Coordinators (DIC), Nodal Officers, Safety Officers, Liaison Officers, and Information and Media Officers, have also been appointed at the state level to ensure effective communication and coordination.

She also directed DCs to ensure all fire services and trauma centres are ready to deal with any emergency. She said the drill aims to prepare the civilian population for any exigency and reduce the potential of mass panic during such dire/hostile situations.

She informed that a blackout drill will be conducted across the state from 7:50 pm to 8 pm, during which the general public is advised to stay indoors and away from windows. If you are driving, then park your vehicle on the side and turn off the lights.

Stay where you are and avoid unnecessary movement. Turn off all indoor and outdoor lights during alerts, including disconnecting inverters or alternative power supplies. She informed that evacuation, fire safety exercises, and the implementation of the Air Raid Warning System will also be ensured during 'Operation Abhyas.'

My first priority as CM is to serve people in Tripura: Manik Saha

'Centre has placed the state in the Zone B category, enabling it to receive incentives, which will help locally produced goods compete in the market'

Tatas are coming up with a 100-key super luxury heritage hotel in the heart of Agartala, upgrading its erstwhile Raj Bhavan, which will have four-heritage suites and relics of the Manikya Raj. This will generate hundreds of direct and indirect employment. Reliance Group has also evinced keen interest in investing in the picturesque north-eastern state and is weighing various options. The state, which has nine superspecialty hospitals, two general medical colleges, government dental college, government ayurvedic college, nursing college, pharmacy college, is in the process of receiving a Rs 700 crore investment from Shija Hospitals and Research Centre of Manipur for a 700-bed large hospital. The state, which has 2.1 lakh micro and mid-sized entrepreneurs, has been witnessing a significant growth (both qualitative and quantitative) in its MSME and start-up ecosystem. Self-Help Groups are also flourishing, let alone the continuing growth and boom in the agriculture sector. And all these taken together, the quaint, scenic state is now on a high growth trajectory. And navigating this upward journey from the front is kurtapyjama-clad, extremely soft-spoken, state's new Chief Minister, Prof Dr Manik Saha, an academican, medical practitioner-turned politician.

In a free-wheeling tete-a-tete with Ritwik Mukherjee of The Statesman at his Agartala residence, Dr Saha shares his cherished dreams and vision about the state, recent socio-political developments in neighbouring Bangladesh, among many other issues.

Excerpts:

■ When you took over as the state Chief Minister almost all on a sudden, many said you were airdropped. You did not get a chance or time to set your priorities. But now you must have set your priorities straight and have your job well cut out. So what are your priorities?

A: When I assumed the office as the Chief Minister of Tripura, it was indeed a sudden responsibility bestowed upon me. However, as PM Modi ji had given me the opportunity, I accepted it with a deep sense of duty towards the people of our state. While the transition was swift, my years of experience in public life and administration allowed me to adapt quickly to the demands of the role. After assuming the Chief Minister's chair, my first priority was to serve for the people. For their welfare and development of the state. Apart from this, good governance and transparency along with boosting economy, youth empowerment, skill development and also empowering the women. We have also launched Proti Ghor Sushasan, which aims to fulfil people's demands and needs.

■ How could you leverage or take advantage of being a 'double engine government'?

A: We have triple engine government including Union government led by PM Modi ji, our state Government and Agartala Municipal Corporation. After PM Modi assumed chair, he stressed upon the Northeast region. He has declared HIRA Model for us i.e. benefiting starting from Highways, Internet Connectivity, Railways and Airways. The double engine government is helping us in the faster implementation of policies and various schemes which introduced for the benefit of the people, the financial support, infrastructure and crisis management. During the devastating flood situation, we have worked tirelessly and the Central government led by Prime Minister Modi ji and Union Home Minister Amit Shah ji has helped us any all-possible way and sent immediate relief to the state. The health infrastructures have also significantly changed starting from dental college, nursing college, superspecialty hospitals.

■ Tripura is not as difficult a terrain as other north eastern states. How do you propose to take advantage of this?

A: The face of Tripura is gradually changing after our government came to power in 2018. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has given special importance to the development of the North Eastern region through the Act East Policy. There is no talk except for overall development. The state has only one lifeline which was National Highway 08. Apart from this more new six highways have been constructed and for this now reaching Unakoti District from Agartala take around 2 hours which was tough job before 2018. The railway connectivity has also boosted up. We have now several express trains, DEMU and etc.

■ What is your vision about taking this small picturesque state to the next level of development?

A: I have been saying that the BJP and our state government's main aim is development and work for progress. We talk less and work more. For the next level of development, we are focusing on harnessing our natural resources like rubber, tea, agar, bamboo which earlier never came into focus, infrastructure development of all the sectors, skill development is must, boosting MSME and Entrepreneurship along with Self-Help Group which has significantly increased in our state. We are also working on green energy.

■ What are your thoughts on regional cooperation and coordination to move along the path of progress and development?

A: Regional cooperation and coordination are essential pillars for fostering progress and development. When regions work together, they pool resources, share expertise, and align strategies, creating a foundation for mutual growth. Regional cooperation serves as a catalyst for sustainable development, ensuring that progress is equitable, resilient, and holistic.

■ When it comes to industrial development, what are your thrust areas? Which are the industry sectors, you are laying utmost thrust on?

A: We had industry sector which was unused during the long tenure of the Left Front regime. However, after our government came into power, we have taken several steps for attracting investors in our state. Investors will come when peace and tranquillity is prevailing and in our state law and order is very good. We are stressing on bamboo, tea, agar-based industry. We have also tourism. The present state government is making all efforts to attract investors to the state, with over 200 investments already made and more investments worth over Rs 1,000 crore in the pipeline. We know how Prime Minister Narendra Modi has been working for the Northeast. He has always said that without developing the Northeast, the country's development is incomplete. PM Modi introduced this UNNATI programme to further industrial development in the Northeast region and attract investors. Over the next 10 years, more than 83,000 jobs will be generated, with a budget of Rs 10,037 crore sanctioned for the Northeast, which will benefit the people of Tripura and other northeastern states. Centre has placed Tripura in the Zone B category, enabling it to receive incentives, which will help locally produced goods compete in the market. State government has established the Tripura Investment Promotion Agency to assist those interested in investing or opening industries in the state, along with an online 'Single Window' portal to eliminate the need for physical visits to departments.

■ For so long, north eastern states had been depending on central funds. But in today's context, no region or state can prosper without private capital. What are you doing about that?

A: Tripura is undergoing a transformation, and attracting private capital has become a key focus for the state's development. While central funds remain an important support system, we are proactively creating an environment that welcomes private investment. Tripura has made significant strides in improving its ranking in the Ease of doing business index. Simplified processes, single-window clearances, and investor-friendly policies are now in place to encourage entrepreneurs to set up businesses in the state. We are also creating Self-Help Groups, encouraging Entrepreneurship. We are also focusing on tourism as the number of tourists has significantly increased.

■ What are you doing about physical and social infrastructure development in the state?

A: As part of our commitment to the holistic development of Tripura, we are implementing strategic initiatives to enhance both physical and social infrastructure in the state. In physical infrastructure the road and railway connectivity have significantly improved. We are connecting all the rural roads with the national highways. We are using schemes like PMGSY. Expanding urban planning initiatives under AMRUT and Smart Cities programmes to modernise cities like Agartala, strengthening internet connectivity in remote areas to bridge the digital divide and promoting e-governance and digital services for citizens. While in social infrastructure development we are upgrading all our social health cares, primary health cares and also the district hospitals. We have introduced TRAUMA Centres in the district hospitals and also promoting cultural and heritage programmes to strengthen the social fabric.

■ Tripura is predominantly an agricultural state. Any special thoughts and strategies on revival of rubber plantation, cashing in on pineapple and some other fruits and vegetables that the state produces?

A: We have declared Queen Pineapple as our state fruits and also it got GI tags. Our government also exporting pineapple, jackfruits in foreign

Five Bangladeshi nationals apprehended and repatriated from Assam

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
GUWAHATI, 7 MAY

Five Bangladeshi nationals were apprehended and subsequently pushed back across the border by security forces on Tuesday in Assam's South Salmara district for illegally crossing into Indian territory.

Taking to the social media platform X, Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma praised the swift action by the South Salmara Police and the Border Security Force (BSF).

"With an uncompromising stand on illegal infiltration, @SSalmaraPolice and @BSF India apprehended 5 Bangladeshi nationals attempting unlawful entry and pushed them back across the border," the Chief Minister posted.

Reiterating Assam's commitment to border security, Sarma emphasised that the state police maintain round-the-clock vigilance to prevent unauthorised entry through the international border. He noted that infiltration attempts have seen a surge in recent months due to economic turmoil in Bangladesh.

"We have put security forces on high alert along the international border following the unrest in Bangladesh. Our police personnel have been detecting a significant number of illegal immigrants daily. However, it is notable that no Hindu infiltrator from Bangladesh has been arrested in the last five months," Sarma said.

The Chief Minister linked the rise in cross-border infiltration to the collapse of Bangladesh's textile industry, which has triggered mass unemployment, pushing desperate individuals to seek work opportunities in India.

"So far, we have arrested around 1,000 Bangladeshi nationals in recent months.

All of them were immediately pushed back," he added.

The Assam government has maintained that national security and demographic stability remain top priorities, and has urged continuous vigilance and cooperation among security agencies along the sensitive Indo-Bangladesh border.

This surge in enforcement comes amid escalating unrest in Bangladesh, which has prompted increased vigilance along the 263-kilometre-long Indo-Bangladesh border shared by Assam.

Notably, in December 2024, six Bangladeshi nationals were apprehended and subsequently pushed back across the border.

UP CM orders on-ground review of progress in state's aspirational districts

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
LUCKNOW, 7 MAY

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has directed senior officials to conduct on-ground assessments of the progress made in Uttar Pradesh's aspirational districts and development blocks. During a high-level review meeting here on Wednesday, the Chief Minister directed eight Principal Secretary/Secretary-level officers to conduct a three-day visit to the eight aspirational districts. Likewise, 108 Special Secretary-level officers will be assigned to inspect progress in 108 aspirational development blocks. The visits aim to evaluate the tangible changes from the inception of these initiatives to the present and compile detailed reports. The Chief Minister's Office will finalise the list of designated officers. The Chief Minister emphasized that the government's priority, aligned with NITI Aayog's vision, is to ensure that development reaches the last person in the queue. Describing the programmes as a living embodiment of the "Antyodaya" philosophy, he stressed the need for continuous monitoring and outcome-driven strategies to accelerate progress at district and block levels.

Revenge for my husband's death completed today with Operation Sindoor: Shubham's wife

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
KANPUR, 7 MAY

Shubham Dwivedi's wife Anshanya, while giving her first reaction on 'Operation Sindoor' said the country's revenge of her husband's death was completed today.

"Operation Sindoor has cooled my heart. If terrorism is not over, all the houses will be destroyed like this," she commented.

Shubham's father Sanjay Dwivedi said: "Ever since we have heard this news, my whole family is feeling light. The government did the work of destroying those who destroy the vermillion (sindoor) of my daughter - in-law."

Meanwhile, Uttar Pradesh assembly speaker Satish Mahana and state Congress president Ajay Rai met the family members of Shubham Dwivedi on Wednesday, who was among the 26 people killed in the Pahalgam terror attack. The speaker informed Shubham's wife Anshanya about the operation. Both got emotional.

Amid slogans of Bharat Mata Ki Jai, the speaker said: "We thank our army and this was a revenge for the murder of 26 innocent people."

Later, Congress state president Ajay Rai reached the residence of Shubham Dwivedi and met his family members.

Operation Sindoor: India destroys nine terror camps in 25 minutes

Theselection of the targets for strike operation was based on credible intelligence inputs: Colonel Quereshi

PARWINDER SANDHU
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

In a matter of 25 minutes, Operation Sindoor, a joint operation carried out by the India Armed Forces, razed out nine terrorist camps housed in Pakistan and Pakistan occupied Jammu and Kashmir (PoJK).

The operation that was carried out in the intervening night of 6-7 May, was to avenge the deaths of 26 tourists in Pahalgam by Pakistan sponsored terrorists on 22 April.

“The attack in Pahalgam was marked by extreme barbarity, with the victims mostly killed with head-shots from close range and in front of their families. Family members were deliberately traumatised through the manner of the killing, accompanied by the exhortation that they should take back the message,” said Indian Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri said addressing a media briefing today.

Detailing the attack that was carried out in complete secrecy, Col Sofyia Quereshi said that it started at 1.05 a.m. and was over by 1.30 a.m.

“Over the last three decades Pakistan has systematically built terror infrastructure. It is a complex web of recruitment and indoctrination centres, training areas for initial and refresher courses and launch pads with handlers. These camps are located both in Pakistan and Pakistan occupied Jammu and Kashmir,” said the officer.

Stating that the selection of targets for the strike operation was based on credible intelligence inputs and role of these facilities in perpetrating terror activities, Quereshi said that the locations were selected with due diligence to avoid damage to civilian installations and loss of civilian lives.

The strike on the terror camps was undertaken through precision capability, using niche technology weapons with careful selection of warheads that ensured no collateral damage. The point of impact in each of the targets was a specific building or a group of buildings.

It was stated that not only were targets neutralised with clinical efficiency, none of the military establishments were targeted by the striking teams.

“India has demonstrated considerable restraint in its response. However, Indian Armed Forces are fully prepared to respond to Pakistani misadventure, if any, to escalate the situation,” said Col Quereshi.

In the highly secretive operation, India carried out strikes against 9 terror camps of Hizb-ul-Mujahideen (HM, Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) and Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) located in both Pakistan and Pakistan occupied Jammu and Kashmir. It included Markaz Subhan Allah, Bahawalpur – JeM, Markaz Taiba, Muridke – LeT, Sarjal, Tehra Kalan – JeM, Mehmooona Joya, Sialkot – HM, Markaz Ahle Hadith, Bamala – LeT, Markaz Abbas, Kotli – JeM, Maskar Raheel Shahid, Kotli – HM, Shawai Nalla Camp, Muzaffarabad – LeT, and Syedna Bilal Camp, Muzaffarabad – JeM.

Located in POJK, 30 km from the Line of Control in Tangdhar Sector, the Sawai Nala Camp in Muzaffarabad was a key LeT training facility. The attack on civilians and Security Forces in Sonmarg on 20 October 2024, Gulmarg on 24 October 2024 and Pahalgam attack on 22 April, were carried out by the terror module which had its germination at Sawai Nala.

Syedna Belal Camp, Muzaffarabad, a camp of Jaish-e-Mohammad terrorist organisation, was being used as a staging area. This camp was used to train terrorists in weapons, explosives and jungle cum survival techniques for carrying out terrorist activities across Line of Control in Kashmir region.

Political leaders across political spectrum rally around to laud ‘Operation Sindoor’

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Political leaders across the political spectrum on Wednesday rallied around to laud ‘Operation Sindoor’, under which Indian forces targeted nine terror camps in Pakistan and PoJK.

Leaders from the ruling side and from the opposition front posted slogans like “Jai Hind” and “Bharat Mata ki Jai”, applauding the military’s precision strikes.

Extending full support to India’s military action against terror camps in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Jammu and Kashmir, the Congress asserted that national security remains a top priority for the party.

Praising the Indian Army on Operation Sindoor, Congress leader and Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi said: “We are proud of our armed forces. Jai Hind!”

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge said: “We are extremely proud of our Indian Armed Forces who have struck terror camps in Pakistan and PoJK. We applaud their resolute resolve and courage.”

Extending support to Operation Sindoor, which it said was aimed to destroy terrorist camps in infrastructure in PoJK and Pakistan, the Communist Party of India (Marxist) said: “Along with these actions, pressure should be continued on Pakistan to hand over those responsible for the massacre on innocent people in Pahalgam and to ensure that no terrorist camps operate from its territory.

A statement issued by the CPI-M Polit Bureau further said: “The Indian government should ensure that the unity of the people and integrity of the country are protected.”

Hailing Operation Sindoor, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, in a post shared on her social media handle X, slammed: “Jai Hind! Jai India!”

Showering praise on the Indian Army, Aam Aadmi Party Convener Arvind Kejriwal said that 140 crore Indians are standing with the Indian Army in the fight against terrorism.

Op Sindoor: Congress applies pause to scheduled party programmes

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

The Congress on Wednesday decided to pause all its scheduled party programmes including Samvidhan Bachao rallies, Party general secretary K C Venugopal said.

He said that the Congress Working Committee that met on Wednesday decided to “pause all scheduled party programs, including Samvidhan Bachao rallies, standing incomplete solidarity with our armed forces during this critical hour.”

The solidarity gesture of the Congress party comes in the wake of Operation Sindoor carried out early Wednesday by Indian armed forces targeting terror camps in Pakistan and PoJK.

The CWC meeting was held on Wednesday, “reaffirmed and reiterated its support to the country’s defense forces and the government to deal with Pakistan following the terror attack in Pahalgam.”

The meeting which was presided over by the party president Mallikarjun Kharge was attended, among others, by the Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, General Secretary (Organisation) K.C. Venugopal, Priyanka Gandhi, Jairam Ramesh and other senior leaders of the party.

Briefing newsmen, Kharge said the CWC reaffirmed its support for every decisive action against terrorism of all forms emanating from Pakistan and Pakistan-Occupied Kashmir.

Congress has chalked to carry out Samvidhan Bachao rallies across the country from 25 April and were to be continued till end of May.

In talks with Jaishankar, Japan foreign minister backs fair probe to punish Pahalgam’s guilty

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Wednesday had a telephone talk with his Japanese counterpart Iwaya Takeshi with the latter advocating “that fair investigation and punishment of offenders of this (Pahalgam) terrorist attack are important.

A statement issued by Japan’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs said: “At the outset, Minister Iwaya extended his sincere condolences to the victims of the terrorist attack in Kashmir and expressed his deepest sympathy to those who were injured in the attack.”

Asserting that fair investigation and punishment of offenders of this terrorist attack are important, Mr Iwaya affirmed that “terrorism cannot be justified for any reason and Japan strongly condemns all forms of terrorism”.

Minister Iwaya further maintained that “Japan is deeply concerned that the recent series of events could lead to further reprisals and escalate into a full-scale military conflict”. He urged both India and Pakistan to exercise restraint and stabilise the situation through dialogue for the peace and stability in South Asia.

The Japanese minister’s concerns assume significance as more and more world leaders are urging both India and Pakistan to exercise calm and maximum restraint in the wake of Operation Sindoor carried out by Indian armed forces targeting terror camps in Pakistan and PoJK.

Cutting across party lines, Bihar leaders express solidarity with the Indian Army

IMRAN MOJIB
PATNA, 7 MAY

Cutting across party affiliations, leaders in Bihar hailed Indian armed forces for successfully executing ‘Operation Sindoor’, dismantling terrorist camps in Pakistan. They also expressed solidarity with the Central government for its swift action following the terrorist attack in Pahalgam.

Reacting to the success of ‘Operation Sindoor’, Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar praised Indian Army and PM Narendra Modi, and said that ‘whole country is proud’ of them.

In a message posted on X, Chief Minister Nitish Kumar said: “In response to the terrorist attack in Pahalgam, Jammu and Kashmir, on 22 April 2025, the Indian Army targeted nine terrorist hideouts in Pakistan and Pakistan-Occupied Kashmir under Operation Sindoor.”

“The whole country is united against terrorism. The whole country is proud of the courage and valour of the Indian Army. We all have unwavering faith and pride in the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Jai Hind,” he said.

Leader of Opposition in Bihar Assembly Tejashwi Prasad Yadav wrote on Twitter that 140 crore Indians are with the government in this fight.

He wrote: “India, Indians and the Indian Army have never tolerated any kind of terrorism and separatism in their country and will never do so. The Indian Army has always protected the wombs of mothers, the wrists of sisters, and the sindoor on their foreheads.”

“We believe in truth, nonviolence and peace. If our unity, integrity and sovereignty are attacked then we know how to respond and give a befitting reply. In this fight against terrorism, 140 crore Indians are with the Indian Army and the government,” he added.

BJP leader and Deputy Chief Minister of Bihar Vijay Kumar Sinha congratulated the Indian Army, PM Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah on the success of ‘Operation Sindoor’. He said that India has avenged the Pahalgam terror attack and has given a clear message to the world.

Reacting to the Indian Army’s ‘Operation Sindoor’, Jan Suraj Party founder Prashant Kishor said that the whole country and the Jan Suraj family support the army’s action.

India deploys SCALP cruise missiles, hammer bombs in joint forces’ strike on terror hubs

PARWINDER SANDHU
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

India launched Operation Sindoor against Pakistan on the intervening night of May 6-7 to strike at nine sites harboring terror activities. The joint operation carried out by the Indian Armed Forces was launched to avenge the death of 26 tourists killed in Pahalgam terror attack.

As per the reports, India used a mix of weapons to carry out the counter strike successfully. It included SCALP cruise missile, the HAMMER precision bomb, and loitering munitions among the others.

The SCALP missile, also known as Storm Shadow, is a long-range, air-launched cruise missile with a range exceeding 250 kilometres and designed for deep-strike capabilities. Further HAMMER (Highly Agile Modular Munition Extended Range), a smart bomb was used to strike hardened infrastructure such as reinforced bunkers and multi-storey buildings used as training and logistical centres by LeT and Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM), according to the reports.

In the highly secretive operation, India carried out strikes against 9 terror camps of Hizb-ul-Mujahidin (HM, Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) and Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) located in both Pakistan and Pakistan occupied Jammu and Kashmir.

It included Markaz Subhan Allah, Bahawalpur – JeM, Markaz Taiba, Muridke – LeT, Sarjal, Tehra Kalan – JeM, Mehmooona Joya, Sialkot – HM, Markaz Ahle Hadith, Bamala – LeT, Markaz Abbas, Kotli – JeM, Maskar Raheel Shahid, Kotli – HM, Shawai Nalla Camp, Muzaffarabad – LeT, and Syedna Bilal Camp, Muzaffarabad – JeM.

Also dubbed “kamikaze drones”, the loitering munitions were deployed for surveillance, target acquisition, and terminal strike roles, it was stated.

Justice Yashwant Varma indicted by in-house panel; option is to resign or face impeachment

PARMOD KUMAR
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

The three-member in-house committee constituted by the Chief Justice of India, Justice Sanjiv Khanna, to probe the alleged recovery of unaccounted cash from the official residence of Justice Yashwant Varma on 14 March, 2025, after a fire broke out at his residence, has indicted the judge in its report.

Justice Varma, sources said, has been given time till Friday - 9 May, to respond to the report by the in-house panel submitted to the Chief Justice Khanna on 4 May.

After being indicted by the in-house panel, Justice Yashwant Varma has the option to resign, failing which the report would be sent to the President Droupadi Murmu with recommendation for his impeachment.

The three-member in-house committee constituted on 22 March, by the Chief Justice Khanna comprised the Chief Justice of Punjab and Haryana High Court, Justice Sheel Nagu, Chief Justice of Himachal Pradesh High Court, Justice GS Sandhawalia, and Justice Anu Sivaraman of the Karnataka High Court.

The in-house committee commenced its probe on 25 March and submitted its report to the Chief Justice Khanna on 4 May.

The inquiry was initiated following the recovery of large amounts of unaccounted cash from Justice Varma’s residence in Delhi on 14 March, 2025 – the Holi Day, after a fire broke out at his residence on 14 March, evening.

Prime Minister Modi briefs Prez Murmu on Operation Sindoor

AGENCIES
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday called on President Droupadi Murmu at the Rashtrapati Bhavan and briefed her on Operation Sindoor, a bold and tightly coordinated military action in which Indian armed forces struck multiple high-value terror targets in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK).

“Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi called on President Droupadi Murmu at Rashtrapati Bhavan and briefed her about Operation Sindoor,” the President’s office posted on X.

Launched in the early hours of Wednesday, the tri-services operation was conducted jointly by the Indian Army, Air Force, and Navy.

Between 1.05 a.m. and 1.30 a.m., a barrage of 24 missiles hit nine terrorist facilities, including Lashkar-e-Taiba’s headquarters in Muridke and key installations in Bahawalpur - locations long identified as breeding grounds for terror activities.

According to government sources, the operation killed an estimated 70 terrorists. Officials said the action was deliberately designed to be non-escalatory and proportionate, avoiding civilian and military infrastructure while specifically targeting verified terrorist camps.

Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri, addressing a media briefing in New Delhi alongside Army Colonel Sophia Qureshi and Air Force Wing Commander Vyomika Singh, described the strikes as “measured and proportionate”.

He added that the attacks

Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri, addressing a media briefing in New Delhi alongside Army Colonel Sophia Qureshi and Air Force Wing Commander Vyomika Singh, described the strikes as “measured and proportionate”.

were launched in response to credible intelligence of impending attacks by Pakistan-based terror outfits.

The 22 April terror attack in Pahalgam, attributed to The Resistance Front - a proxy of Lashkar-e-Taiba - claimed the lives of 26 civilians, including one Nepali national. It was one of the deadliest civilian terror incidents on Indian soil since the 2008 Mumbai attacks.

Colonel Qureshi noted that Pakistan has, over the decades, developed a network of terror camps, launch pads, and recruitment centres across PoK and within its own borders.

“This operation was aimed at dismantling those very foundations,” she said, calling it a strategic shift in India’s counter-terror posture.

Foreign Secretary Misri stressed that India’s actions were compelled by the urgency to prevent further bloodshed.

“This morning’s strikes were precise, proportionate, and responsible - focused solely on neutralising terror threats.”

Real-time surveillance and post-strike assessments confirmed the destruction of the intended targets.

Operation Sindoor marks one of India’s most assertive cross-border military responses since the Balakot airstrikes in 2019.

Ramping up

The Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has issued a crucial directive to all states and Union Territories, emphasising the need to enhance civil defence mechanisms. This move, the first since the 1971 Indo-Pak war, comes in the wake of the recent terrorist attack in Pahalgam which claimed the lives of 26 individuals. While the directive does not directly mention the possibility of a war with Pakistan, it signals a significant shift in India’s national security posture, aligning with growing concerns over military threats and the preparedness to counter them. The MHA’s directive mandates the installation and operability of air raid sirens across the country. These sirens are a critical element of civil defence, ensuring that citizens are alerted in the event of an emergency, such as an aerial attack or sudden threat. The focus on air raid sirens highlights the governments commitment to bolstering preparedness for scenarios that may escalate into more severe threats. Additionally, the ministry has called for an extensive review of blackout protocols to ensure the country is ready for any power disruptions that may arise during critical moments. The government has scheduled a nationwide civil defence exercise on May 7, spanning 244 districts, down to the village level. This exercise will involve various stakeholders, including district authorities, civil defence volunteers, home guards, and students from schools and colleges. The participation of students is a key aspect, reinforcing the government’s aim to train civilians, including the younger generation, in essential civil defence practices. These mock drills will simulate real-life emergency situations to assess the operational readiness of various civil defence measures. This exercise is a critical step in evaluating the coordination and efficiency of preparedness strategies at the grassroots level. The MHA’s push for enhanced civil defence comes just days after a high-level meeting between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and National Security Adviser Ajit Doval. This meeting, alongside other Cabinet-level discussions, underscores the urgency with which the government is addressing the security situation, particularly following the Pahalgam attack. The attack itself prompted the National Investigation Agency (NIA) to take charge of the investigation, which has led to the questioning of over 300 individuals. This directive to ramp up civil defence readiness and conduct nationwide exercises could also be seen as part of India’s broader strategic recalibration, which is focused on ensuring that the nation is well-prepared to deal with a range of internal security challenges. In the context of the strained relationship with Pakistan, this emphasis on civil defence may be an indirect acknowledgment of the possibility of further regional instability. India’s proactive approach to enhancing its internal defence mechanisms reflects a broader strategic response to potential threats. The MHA’s directives are a clear signal of India’s resolve to bolster civil defence readiness and ensure the safety and security of its citizens. While these steps are necessary to mitigate the risks of war, they also subtly acknowledge the on-going security concerns at the international level.

Humane battles

The decision by Israel’s security cabinet to intensify its military offensive in Gaza and seize territorial control marks a dangerous and deeply troubling shift. At a time when diplomacy should be at the forefront, this renewed military strategy underscores a broader failure ~ not just in securing hostages or ensuring security, but in preserving basic humanitarian norms and human dignity. At the heart of this plan lies a chilling premise: that Gaza’s civilian population can simply be “moved” as a strategic variable in a military campaign. The notion that 2.1 million people can be displaced, again, under the pretext of protection, disregards the suffering and trauma already endured. Many of these civilians have faced repeated evacuations, loss of homes, and crumbling access to food, medicine, and water. The idea that forced relocation equates to protection is not only cynical ~ it’s inhumane. It is also worth noting that Israel’s stated aim to eliminate Hamas remains as elusive as ever. Despite months of bombardment, the group has not been eradicated, and many of the hostages remain captive. Instead, what the world sees is a battered, starving population and a rising death toll. When the military fails to achieve strategic goals, doubling down rarely yields success ~ it only compounds the tragedy. What’s more concerning is the plan to control humanitarian aid through private or military channels, effectively bypassing established international organisations. This move strips aid of its neutrality and risks turning food and medicine into tools of leverage. Such a tactic not only contravenes international humanitarian law but also sets a perilous precedent. Civilians should never have to choose between starvation and forced displacement. The psychological toll on Gaza’s population ~ especially children ~ is profound and enduring. Generations are growing up amid rubble, trauma, and fear, with no clear vision of peace or stability. This emotional devastation will haunt the region long after the last missile falls, sowing seeds of resentment that no wall or army can contain. The broader implications of this strategy are equally bleak. By prioritising territorial control over the lives of hostages and the welfare of civilians, the Israeli leadership risks alienating even its staunchest allies. Domestic pressure is mounting, and the Israeli public’s frustration over the government’s inability to bring the hostages home is palpable. The hostage families’ cries for negotiation and de-escalation have been drowned out by the drumbeat of war. A true victory in this conflict cannot be measured by territorial gains or body counts. It will be measured by the ability to forge a just, lasting peace where both Palestinians and Israelis can live with dignity, security, and hope. The current path ~ marked by siege, displacement, and despair ~ leads only to more hatred and more bloodshed. It is time for leadership that values restraint over retaliation, negotiation over domination, and humanity over territorial ambition. The world watches not just the battlefield, but the moral compass of those who lead it.

More Chicanery

Islamabad has all along played the duplicitous act of fanning terrorism across its borders. It seeks to flex its muscle with the undue leverage that regional dissonance and discord affords it. From supporting violent insurgent groups based on sectarian considerations in Iran, to deadly groups loyal to Islamabad in Afghanistan, to virtually any grouping willing to create mayhem in India – anything goes for Pakistan

When terrorists killed Indian citizens in the cowardly attack in Pahalgam, the fingers were immediately and justifiably pointed across the Line-of-Control (LoC). The perfunctory official message of Pakistani authorities in condemning the attack and condoling the deaths was insincere, insufficient, and incorrigible, given that this has been the tactic for decades following every such terror attack. The nefarious hand of Pakistan in creating, nurturing, and supporting, the terror ecosystem needs no reiteration or reconfirmation.

Harking back to the first tweet of 2018 by the then President of the USA, Donald Trump (in his first term) ~ the clearly frustrated POTUS had called out Pakistan’s ‘deceit’ and ‘duplicit-ity’ on terrorism, and for offering a “safe haven” to terrorists. Even Trump’s predecessor, Barack Obama, who disagreed with Trump on most things, was completely aligned on Pakistan as he had earlier said, “We need to make clear to people that the cancer is in Pakistan”.

That Pakistan itself is mired in a self-acknowledged and deadly mutation of religious extremism, intolerance and terrorism, is clearly its own doing. Political scientist and global terror expert Daniel Byman had famously stated, “Pakistan may now be the single biggest state sponsor of terrorism, beyond even Iran, yet it has never been listed by the US State Department as a state sponsor of terrorism”.

The fact that Pakistan was always key to American interest often allowed it get away without adequate censure or sanctions ~ the Americans would conveniently look the other way when it wasn’t their own interest or personnel that were targeted or pat Pakistan on its back, whenever it helped get an occasional ‘hit’ on someone from America’s ‘wanted list’ (like Trump recently praised Pakistan for aiding the arrest of a key terrorist involved in the 2021 Kabul airport bombing). But that is the typical American transactional policy.

Islamabad has all along played the duplicitous act of fanning terrorism across its borders. It seeks to flex its muscle with the undue leverage that regional dissonance and discord affords it. From supporting violent insurgent groups based on sectarian considerations in Iran, to deadly groups loyal to Islamabad in Afghanistan, to virtually any grouping willing to create mayhem in India ~ anything goes for Pakistan. Afghanistan’s former President, Hamid Karzai had lamented, “we seriously have issues with the military and intelligence agency of Pakistan because they are using extremist methods based on religion to destabilize Afghanistan.” Irrespective of which government came in Iran, Afghanistan or India ~ each has consistently and uniformly blamed the Pakistani hand in each terror incident.

It is so bad that now even Pakistan’s own creation in Afghanistan, the Taliban, are up in arms against Islamabad, for they believe Islamabad always plays a double-game, even against its own creation i.e. the Taliban.

India of course is well versed with the Pakistani playbook in ‘post-terror incident management’ as it can deploy a combination of outright denials, deflections, mealy-mouthed what-abouts, implausible contexts, to one of its favourite tactics i.e., blame it on so-called, ‘non state actors’, as they come with the handle of plausible deniability. Except that there are no takers for Pakistan’s innocence, and it has found itself embarrassed to feature on the global finance laundering watchdog agency FATF’s (Financial Action Task Force) infamous ‘Grey List’. Incorrigibility on terror has been a hallmark that has frustrated all its neighbours, ostensible ‘allies’ like the USA, and even its own citizenry who are now facing the brunt of patronized religious extremism.

Against this backdrop to disingenuously call the Pahalgam terror attack in the Kashmir Valley by terrorists as a “False Flag Operation” was typically and instinctively, a Pakistani patent. Except that as usual, it cuts no ice. The 16th century term ‘False Flag’ is rooted in the times when pirates on high seas would ignobly deceive other ships into allowing them proximity under the false belief that they were of one sovereign or intention, when they were not. The intention basically was to carry out an action (attack) with the intention of blaming an opponent or enemy.

So, the Pakistani reaction was predicated on the suggestion that the terror attack had no links or support from Pakistan, as the country had no reason to disturb the peace in India, especially the Kashmir Valley.

To even imagine such a ludicrous suggestion is to reject all telltale militaristic/security pointers in this action, ignore the history besetting terrorism in Kashmir, and to forget Pakistan’s own position and preference on outcomes in Kashmir.

Just weeks ago, the Pakistani Army Chief had called Kashmir India’s ‘jugular vein’ and even worse, even as the blood in, Pahalgam had barely dried, the Pakistan Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister had called the terrorists who had carried out this specific carnage ‘freedom fighters’.

It is further an anathema and abhorrence to attribute this tragedy as a ‘False Flag Operation’ as that would suggest that the terror attack was deliberately organised by India to make the perpetrators appear to be Pakistanis (or supported/controlled by Pakistan), thereby giving India a handle to name and shame or even offer a pretext for a destructive attack/strike on a foreign country (in this case, Pakistan). This was the exact storyline that Pakistan had adopted during ‘Kargil’ (when it initially refused to accept bodies of Pakistanis killed), during the attack on Mumbai (Islamabad had even denied that Ajmal Kasab was a Pakistani) and during Pulwama.

This bogey of ‘non-State actors’ who supposedly conduct ‘false flag operations’ is a conspiracy theory that is actually eating into the vitals of Pakistan itself. Today after making a killing with a ‘false flag’ approach to wash its bloody hands of any blame-game in supporting the birth and rise of Taliban in Afghanistan, the uncontrollable genie of religious extremism is rebounding on Pakistan itself, with deadly consequences. For Islamabad to plead innocence in creating the mess in Afghanistan or in India, is to live under a rock.

Having deliberately pussyfooted on repeated requests from India to control the people, policies, and ‘nurseries’ of terrorism in Pakistan that are creating havoc in the region ~ it is ironic that it does not see that while neighbours are still socio-economically and morally resilient to withstand such incidents, Pakistan is living on dole, aid and desperation.

India will do what it has to do on Pahalgam, but every day and with every act of denial such as the ‘False Flag’ chicanery, Pakistan is only digging a deeper grave for itself.

Empirical rigour

SIR, The national census will now include a caste survey as well. Every socio-economic data is a vital input for effective policy formulation. A progressive caste census in India must eschew tokenism and become a tool for transformative justice.

By grounding it in empirical rigour, ethical safeguards, and inclusive policymaking, we would address caste-based inequities while advancing towards the constitutional ideal of a “casteless and classless” society.

The judiciary, civil society, and marginalized communities must collaborate to ensure the census empowers and not divides the nation. And for this every political party needs to tone down partisan rhetoric and own the seminal concept of the exercise and thereafter contribute to its dispassionate interpretation and earnest application of the guiding principles that would emerge and evolve over time. We need to use the census to create a roadmap for when caste-based reservations may no longer be needed, contingent on achieving measurable equity.

The ultimate aim ought to be towards a caste-blind governance. Address current disparities and invest in universal policies such as quality public education and healthcare, to steer away from reliance on identity-based solutions.

Yours, etc., R Narayanan, Navi Mumbai, 2 May.

CASTE CENSUS

SIR, Many of us are praising the Central government for giving its nod to a caste census. It may sound good for politics. But it is not good for human welfare in our society. The caste census will provoke casteism among various communities, and the quota or reservation fight will increase in society, which may lead to civil war in the long run. A reservation system based on caste should not be the means to bring the backwards classes into the mainstream of society. The maker of our constitution, Dr. Ambedkar, introduced reservations for backward classes for a certain period so that they could use the opportunity to come forward. But politicians made the reservation system permanent. As a result, politics has advanced a lot, but the social and economic development of the backward classes remains elusive even after 75 years of independence.

Yours, etc., Mihir Kanungo, Kolkata, 6 May.

FEELING HEAT

SIR, This refers to the editorial “Heat on us” (6 May). Climate change will hit us in a massive way when IMD (Indian Meteorological Department) announces higher temperatures than last year. February 2025 was declared the warmest February since 1901.

The National Action Plan was constituted with eight national missions to reach net-zero emissions in 2070 and the usage of renewable energy, but the government has set up an exclusive department on Climate Change and its consequences.

Each year, the temperature rises, and politicians hardly care about it, even though they are the decision-makers. In the recent state elections, as well as the Lok Sabha election, the campaign was carried out in extreme heat conditions, but nobody raised questions about climate change.

The massive landslide in Wayanad took 350 people, where politics started between two political parties, without mentioning that climate change might harm the health of the nation. In Leh, people experienced a heat wave in July 2024, and in Jaisalmer, Rajasthan, the single-day rainfall became 55 per cent of the season’s rainfall.

We ignore it, terming it a natural disaster, but behind all this is climate change. It is a major issue as serious as terrorism, so we cannot ignore it.

Yours, etc., Abhijit Chakraborty, Bally, 6 May.

Trade unions mobilizing workers for modernization

The year 2025 marks the 100th anniversary of the founding of the All-China Federation of Trade Unions. In his important speech to mark the anniversary on May 1, President Xi Jinping has highlighted the need to comprehensively enhance the quality of workforce amid the new round of technological revolution and industrial transformation.

What the top leader pointed out is the federation’s right direction at a time when productive forces and the relations of production are undergoing profound changes. The federation is poised to make significant contributions to Chinese modernization by cultivating highly skilled workers and uniting workers under the leadership of the Communist Party of China. As the main force of the working class in China, industrial workers are a pillar for promoting the innovation and application of new technologies. To accelerate industrial upgrading and enhance the core competitiveness of enterprises, efforts should be made to deepen reform of industrial workers and cultivate workers with new strengths.

In October, the central authorities issued a guideline to promote the reform and cultivation of first-class industrial technical workers, helping them cope with the challenges brought by the rapidly evolving new technologies and new business models. As a bridge between the Party and workers, trade unions play a crucial role in employee education, among others. In recent years, the federation has continuously promoted improvement in the quality of workers and their status to cultivate more master craftsmen and high-skilled workers. It has also organized talent training camps, helped build a system for schools that are training craftsmen across the nation, and built platforms specialized in imparting intelligent skills, boosting learning and broadening the channels of training.

In particular, with the rapid progress of the digital economy and prevalent smart-manufacturing, the federation attaches significant importance to improving digital literacy and skills of industrial workers to proficiently use new intelligent tools and adapt to the progress of new quality productive forces.

Focusing on the upgrading of manufacturing, new technologies and thereby new occupations brought by them, the federation innovatively hosts professional skills competitions, selecting master craftsmen while supporting the progress of diligent youngsters, skilled workers and hard-working personnel. Trade unions at all levels are also fully leveraging their strengths to organize skills competitions in various sectors or those related to particular positions, helping the participants share the benefits of competition.

The Wenzhou Federation of Trade Unions in Zhejiang province has hosted skills competitions for five consecutive years, all aimed at improving the skills of employees.

Blame technology for break-up of families

BASAB DASGUPTA

Over the past several decades, the US and many other countries around the world, even India in recent years, have been undergoing a transformation from family-oriented societies into individualistic ones. There are explanations in social sciences about this change: some theories attribute this to disintegration of families resulting from divorce, economic hardship requiring both spouses working and empowerment of women to rise beyond their role as housewives.

I worked in the consumer electronics industry during my professional life; unlike the social scientists, I see a strong correlation between this social change and advances in technology. Here is my explanation of this transition based on development of new technologies in electronics.

The first sign of family breakdown was the end of nightly family dinners where family members discussed incidents in their daily lives as well as current events. This formed a strong bond. The main culprit behind the end of this practice was the microwave oven. With every person in the family having a busy individual schedule, microwave ovens provided a convenient alternative to synchronizing a time window for dinner. When a person was hungry, he/she could warm up the meal (either cooked earlier or frozen dinner) and eat alone at their convenience.

Introduction of headphones along with devices like the Sony Walkman in listening to music made it convenient for a listener to enjoy music of his own taste without bothering anyone else or seeking a consensus. However, it also created isolation. One could spend hours on this device without interacting with anyone. Miniature TVs with 6" to 9" screen sizes started to emerge around the same time, allowing individual viewing of TV programmes.

Electronic video games captured everyone's attention. ATARI introduced games like "Pac-Man" and "Donkey-Kong" which were extremely addictive. Soon other companies such as Nintendo followed suit. Young people remained absorbed for hours playing these games by themselves with total concentration; parents did not have to worry about where their kids were but there was no more need for family-oriented games like Scrabble, Chess, various card games or board games like "Snakes and Ladders".

The most significant invention of this period was that of VCR. Apart from providing popular movies and pre-recorded home videos for home viewing, VCRs brought pornography to our bedroom. There was no longer the need to sneak into an adult movie theatre in a seedy part of town without being seen by anyone. With VCRs, one could watch any adult movie any time in the privacy and comfort of one's home. I have no doubt that they contributed significantly to unhappiness, infidelity if not break-up of marriages.

Wireless hand-held telephone receivers came along the way. There was no more need to talk loudly over the phone in the living room or kitchen where everyone could hear you. One could go to one's room and share all kinds of private and intimate thoughts with friends and relatives.

Apart from variety in home entertainment, new inventions also focused on convenience. The concept of integration became a trendy thing in the mid-eighties. "Universal remote controls" allowed control of a whole group of audio and video components by a single person using a single remote. Subsequent developments focused on physically merging separate components into one compact physical entity. The first such devices were TV/VCR combos (later replaced by TV/DVD player combos) and "boom boxes". Sony later came up with a console integrating PlayStation and DVD player.

Invention of laptop computers with built-in DVD-players made it easy to access any video content in complete privacy anywhere inside or outside the house. The Internet provided the fuel to a full-blown explosion that ended family group activities, whether it was education or entertainment. The need to go to the library and study together was gone. Every imaginable information was available on the internet just by clicking a few buttons. A tutor or even in-person college classes seems like an unnecessary expense when all learning sessions are available on the internet. Movies and music, news, games could all be accessed on the same screen whenever and wherever.

When I left the consumer electronics industry, all companies were preoccupied in their research to integrate TVs with computers. Their goal was to come up with an all-encompassing large box in the middle of one's family room which integrated TV, DVD-player, stereo, computer, video game console, radio, telephone, clock and probably a few other accessories. There was even talk about a 3D holographic TV display where viewers could walk around the screen and see the content from various angles. Perhaps such an invention could have unified the family again. Unfortunately, no such system was ever developed by any company; I didn't even see a working prototype at Consumer Electronic shows. All devices eventually did converge, but not in a big box in the middle of our family room but in a tiny box which fits into our pockets called a "Smartphone"; it kept family members separated. Just think about it; a smartphone is a combination of TV, phone with both audio and video communication, computer terminal, calculator, camera, video camera, video game console, timer and clock radio, road atlas, Global Positioning System, a universal remote and provides a host of other information with the help of "apps". One can even use it in the 'selfie mode' to take one's own photo without seeking help from others. Furthermore, the price is exceedingly affordable. Everyone can have one.

Evolution of social media resulted in further isolation, especially among young people. Instead of playing with friends and neighbourhood kids or doing something outdoor now they prefer to communicate in private with their friends through texts and social media. Even for adults, a multitude of tasks, including banking, shopping, ordering food, making reservations etc. can be done online using smartphone apps, completely avoiding interactions with other human beings.

Smartphones completed the transformation of society. We no longer see a large group of people of a family enjoying themselves in a park or restaurant or movie theatre. Instead, we see everyone – adults and children alike – deeply absorbed in their cell-phones, often connected by a headphone or ear-pod.

What is next? The answer is written on the wall or should I say, "on the cloud". Artificial Intelligence will gradually eliminate the need to communicate with not just family members but all human beings we interact with and replace them with robots; our teachers, doctors, financial counsellors, spiritual guides, all agents in every service-oriented job, taxi drivers and possibly our friends as well. Instead of a society of human beings, we will be immersed among robots.

Meta/Facebook company has already created Metaverse where one can experience a virtual world by wearing a specially designed headset with glasses and sensors.

Perhaps technology will finally show us what the Holy men have been saying for ages. Life on this earth is nothing but an illusion. Just like electronic signals from a controller allows us to "experience" the virtual world of Metaverse, our five senses allow our brain to experience the universe around us by sending signals to the brain; we assume it to be real. However, it is just an illusion. Family, friends, teachers, ChatGPT - none really means anything, and we really do not need any of them to find the ultimate answers we seek. God is the only truth.

Trump risks falling into 'airpower' trap

CHARLES WALLDORF

In the first 100 days of his second term, U.S. President Donald Trump has shown a willingness to lean on airpower when his administration decides that military force is necessary abroad.

So far, the second Trump administration has launched limited airstrikes in Somalia and carried out a weeks-long air campaign against the Iranian-aligned Houthis who rule most of Yemen. The president has also threatened direct strikes against Iran itself should talks on a new nuclear deal collapse.

This turn to airpower for Trump makes sense to me. Airpower is cheap when compared with ground wars, and it usually comes with fewer casualties for those conducting the strikes. This helps explain why U.S. leaders, including Trump as a self-proclaimed "anti-war president," typically find it attractive. But if the Trump administration is not careful, it could fall into what military strategists informally call the "airpower trap." This happens when the stated objectives of military force are too big for airpower alone to achieve, potentially leading to a face-saving escalation of conflict that could – if history is a guide – draw in ground forces from the U.S. or their local allies.

U.S. presidents such as Lyndon Johnson, Bill Clinton and Barack Obama all fell into this trap. In Vietnam, the Balkans and Syria, respectively, all ended up with far bigger wars than they bargained for, with consequences for civilian casualties, international peace and damage to America's reputation abroad.

As an expert on U.S. national security policy and the Middle East region, I believe the Trump administration is in danger of falling into the airpower trap in Yemen and could potentially do the same in Iran should it elect to use direct force against Tehran. Recognizing this military and historical risk, and opting for some kind of off ramp from continued airstrikes, might be the best hope the U.S. government has to avoid a further escalation into full-scale war.

Research shows airpower is most effective when it's used for limited objectives – things like taking out leaders of terrorist groups or degrading rival capabilities – or in support of ground operations for more ambitious ends, like bolstering or overturning governments. Given the sophistication of U.S. airpower, a common fallacy among American strategists in particular is to think big strategic gains can be achieved solely by dropping bombs from above. But when airpower alone fails, leaders can feel the pressure to expand the scope of conflict and end up with bigger military commitments than expected.

Johnson's initial airpower-only strategy for attempting to stop communism in South Vietnam failed miserably, leading to his decision to commit half a million U.S. troops into war. That expanded conflict presaged years of war, with massive humanitarian and political consequences for people in Southeast Asia and America, as well as lasting reputational damage to the U.S. Worried about U.S. and NATO credibility, Clinton escalated airstrikes – nearly to the point of introducing ground troops – for the ambitious end of stopping genocide in the Balkans during the early 1990s. Likewise, Obama's initial airpower-only strategy to "degrade and destroy" the Islamic State group quickly faltered, leading Obama, under intense pressure at home and abroad, to introduce thousands of ground troops to combat the group's territorial gains across Syria and Iraq.

In each case, relying on airpower alone ultimately failed to meet their objectives. There are reasons to believe that conditions in Yemen mean that Trump, too, could be falling into a similar trap.

Trump has adopted an airpower-only strategy to "completely annihilate" the Houthis, a powerful rebel movement that all but won the recent Yemeni civil war. The proximate cause of the air campaign, a policy inaugurated by the Biden administration and expanded dramatically by Trump, is to restore the free flow of shipping in the Red Sea that the Houthis have disrupted by force to protest Israel's ongoing war in Gaza.

The early signs are that this air campaign isn't going well.

Despite the U.S. burning through finite munitions supplies at a cost of US$1 billion to bomb at least 800 sites since March 15, the Houthis are undeterred and the volume of Red Sea shipping remains as depressed as ever. Houthi attacks on U.S. ships and Israel continue. A Houthi missile narrowly missed Israel's Ben-Gurion airport on May 4. In fact, the direct attacks on the Houthis and the rapidly growing casualty count among Yemeni civilians from the Trump administration's bombing campaign appear to be strengthening the Houthis' political position in Yemen. In a particularly shocking case, U.S. bombs reportedly hit an African migrant camp, killing and injuring dozens of people.

The humanitarian crisis from the brutal bombing campaign by the Saudi-led coalition against the Houthis in the late 2010s had a similar effect. Airpower played a big part then, too. The Saudi coalition, supported by the U.S., engaged in some 25,000 air raids against the Houthis, killing or maiming approximately 19,000 civilians. Yet despite such overwhelming force, the Houthis kept seizing territory and eventually won the civil war, according to experts.

They have been the country's de facto rulers ever since.

Now, Trump is exploring options to further escalate to defeat the Houthis. Reports indicate his administration is considering arming, training and enabling anti-Houthi resistance fighters who are loosely affiliated with Yemen's government in exile to launch ground operations.

Proxies are a common tool U.S. leaders turn to when caught in the airpower trap. Sometimes those proxies fulfill American policy objectives, such as the Kurdish People's Protection Units, or YPG, which helped the U.S. defeat the Islamic state caliphate in 2019. Often, U.S. proxies fail on both strategic and humanitarian terms, leading to further escalation, strategic quagmires for the U.S., and loss of life and political sovereignty for the people under attack. South Vietnam was an instructive example.

Riven by corruption, poor governance, weakness and political infighting, the South Vietnamese army and government proved so ineffective at fighting the North Vietnamese that Johnson decided to launch a ground war once U.S. airpower failed.

Today, the anti-Houthi resistance in Yemen looks a lot more like the South Vietnamese government than the Kurdish YPG. According to a 2025 report from the Soufan Center, a security think tank, the anti-Houthi forces are poorly trained and considered incapable of pulling off victories over the Houthis without major U.S. support. Meanwhile, the anti-Houthi resistance consists of an estimated 85,000 fighters, compared with some 350,000 for the Houthis.

Absent continuing the air war or escalating it into a more all-encompassing conflict, U.S. officials can still pursue diplomacy in order to try to find a political solution to the Yemen conflict. Despite the Trump's administration public threats, the U.S. is already negotiating with the Houthis' main sponsor, Iran.

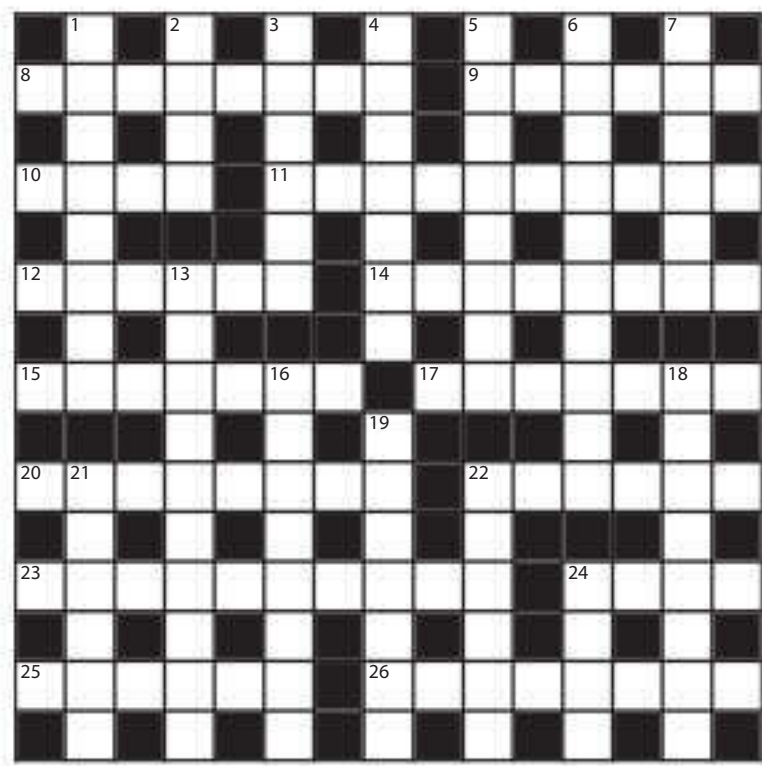

For their part, the Houthis continue to insist that they will stop attacking ships in the Red Sea if the U.S.-backed Israeli war in Gaza halts, something that happened during the recent Gaza ceasefire.

The Trump administration might consider seeking alternatives, such as direct or indirect talks, if it wants to avoid getting stuck in a widening conflict in Yemen. History is full of examples of what happens when airpower takes on a logic of its own.

100 YEARS AGO

OCCASIONAL NOTE

FEW men made finer use of their wealth in his generation than did Lord Leverhulme. Port Sunlight was but one of his beneficent enterprises and in his later years his benefactions took a wider range. The London Museum which he established in Stafford House, the once beautiful London home of the Dukes of Sutherland, will be an enduring monument to him, and the national art collections are richer by many gifts that he made from the treasures that he had gathered. His tastes were remarkably catholic for a man who had started life in a small grocer's shop, and his home was rich in pictures and richer in the most splendid examples of Chinese art in pottery and painting. A man of notable originality of mind in everything that he touched, Lord Leverhulme had proved himself of late years a redoubtable controversialist with the Labour Party and an able opponent of Socialism, in the political sense of the word. His life was an exposition of practical socialism in the sense of service to the community about him.

MISFEASANCE CASE

WRITTEN STATEMENT OF 80 PAGES

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
DELHI, MAY 6.

THE misfeasance proceedings brought against Mr. C. M. DeSouza, a late director of the Development Corporation of India (in liquidation) by Mr. S. B. Billimoria, the official liquidator of the company, came up for hearing before Mr. D. Johnstone, District and Sessions Judge, Delhi.

Mr. C. M. DeSouza had filed a written statement of 80 pages, and, on the day of hearing, a further affidavit challenging the statements made by the official liquidator. He prayed for six months' time to enable him to get the evidence of Mr. R. G. H. Boulton and Mr. G. A. Moncrieff, late directors of the Company, both of whom are at present in England.

Mr. Ram Kishore, wakil, on behalf of the Official Liquidator, stated that it would take some time to obtain copies of the written statement and affidavit filed by the defendant and also to get instructions from the official liquidator's solicitors in Bombay. The District Judge thereupon fixed June 5 for the next hearing, when arguments will be heard by him and issues framed, if possible.

REHOBOTH TROUBLE

SELF-GOVERNMENT POSSIBLE OUTCOME OF REVOLT

CAPE TOWN, MAY 6.

GENERAL Hertzog, the South African Premier, stated in the Assembly that he had received a report from the Administrator of South West Africa regarding the Rehoboth situation.

Tire reference is to the revolt early last month in the village of Rehoboth (South-West Africa).

The Government was sending a judge to investigate the grievances of the natives and also the possibility of giving them self-government under guidance.

The Premier mentioned that he had received a proposal for a round-table conference with the representatives of the Indian Government.

He hoped shortly to negotiate with the Governor-General of Portuguese East Africa with reference to the renewal of the Delagoa Convention.

The Mines and Works Bill, which lays down a colour bar against natives and Asiatics has passed its second reading, and the Bill has been referred to a Select Committee.

The Minister of Mines, the Hon. Mr. Beyers, deprecated the speeches of Gen. Smuts and other Oppositionists as tending to cause disaffection in the native mind, and argued that the Bill only enforced the colour bar which was previously embodied in the regulations of the Transvaal Free State, but which had been found to be ultra vires. He promised to give careful consideration to the extent the Bill should be applied to the Cape Province.

The Asiatic aspect was hardly discussed in the latter stages of the debate.

World leaders urge India, Pakistan to explore diplomacy to defuse tensions

The world cannot afford a military confrontation between India & Pakistan, says UN secretary general Antonio Guterres; I hope it ends quickly, says Donald Trump

SHAHID K ABBAS

NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

World leaders on Wednesday urged both India and Pakistan to exercise calm and maximum restraint in the wake of Operation Sindoor carried out by Indian armed forces targeting terror camps in Pakistan and PoK.

Expressing concerns over the escalation of tensions between the nuclear-armed neighbours, the world leaders urged both sides to resort to the option of dialogue and diplomacy to defuse tensions.

US President Donald Trump, who was among the first to react described the situation as a "shame" and hoped that the tensions ended quickly.

"I am monitoring the situation between India and Pakistan closely. I echo @POTUS's (President of the United States's) comments earlier today that this hopefully ends quickly and will continue to engage both Indian and Pakistani leadership towards a peaceful resolution," US Secretary of State Marco Rubio said in a post on social media platform X.

Donald Trump also expressed hope for a swift de-escalation. "We just heard about it as we were walking through the doors of the Oval office. They've been fighting for a long time. I just hope it ends very quickly," he said.

China also urged India and Pakistan to exercise restraint amid rising tensions.

A statement issued by China's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said: "China expresses regret over India's military actions this morning and is concerned about the current developments. China opposes all forms of terrorism. We call on both India and Pakistan to prioritize peace and stability, remain calm and restrained, and avoid taking actions that further complicate the situation."

Russia's Ministry of Foreign Affairs said it was deeply concerned about the deepening military confrontation between India and Pakistan and called for both countries to show restraint. In a statement posted on the Foreign Ministry's website, Russia said it condemns all forms of terrorism.

Reacting to the operation a spokesperson for UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres (photo) said in a statement: "The Secretary-General is very concerned about the Indian military operations across the Line of Control and international border. He calls for maximum military restraint from both countries." "The world cannot afford a military confrontation between India and Pakistan," it further said.

Urging both India and Pakistan to show restraint France Foreign Minister Jean-Noel Barrot said in an interview on TF1 television: "We understand India's desire to protect itself against the scourge of terrorism, but we obviously call on both India and Pakistan to exercise restraint to avoid escalation and, of course, to protect civilians."

Reacting to the operation, Japan's chief cabinet secretary Yoshimasa Hayashi in a statement said: "In regard to the terrorist act that occurred in Kashmir on April 22, our country firmly condemns such acts of terrorism. Furthermore, we express strong concern that this situation may lead to further retaliatory exchanges and escalate into a full-scale military conflict.....For the peace and stability of South Asia, we strongly urge both India and Pakistan to exercise restraint and stabilise the situation through dialogue."

Qatar, in a statement issued by its Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said it "follows with great concern the continuing escalation between India and Pakistan" and called for "resolving the crisis through diplomatic channels."

The statement further said it "emphasizes the urgent need to keep communication channels open between India and Pakistan."

Also reacting to the operation Turkey urged India and Pakistan to act with common sense adding that India's latest military action created the risk of an "all-out war."

UAE Foreign Minister and Deputy Prime Minister Abdullah bin Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan, in a statement, urged India and Pakistan to show restraint, reduce tensions and prevent further escalation.

"His Highness reaffirmed that diplomacy and dialogue remain the most effective means of peacefully resolving crises, and achieving the shared aspirations of nations for peace, stability, and prosperity," the statement said.

Israel's ambassador to India, Reuven Azar, said in a statement that Israel supports India's right to self-defence.

In a post on X, Mr Azar said, "Israel supports India's right for self defence. Terrorists should know there's no place to hide from their heinous crimes against the innocent."

Trump says only 21 hostages held by Hamas in Gaza now believed to be alive

AGENCIES

WASHINGTON, 7 MAY

President Donald Trump said Tuesday that three hostages held by Hamas in Gaza have died, leaving only 21 believed to be still living.

"As of today, it's 21, three have died," Trump said of the hostages being held by Hamas, noting until recently it had been 24 people believed to be living.

He did not elaborate on the identities of those now believed to be dead, nor how he had come to learn of their deaths.

"There's 21, plus a lot of dead bodies," Trump said.

One American, Edan Alexander, had been among the 24 hostages believed to be alive, with the bodies of several other Americans also held by Hamas after its 7 October, 2023, assault on Israel.

The president's comments came as Israel approved plans Monday to seize the Gaza Strip and to stay in the Palestinian territory for an unspecified amount of time, in a bid to recover the hostages and try to fulfill its war aims of destroying Hamas.

If implemented, the move would vastly expand Israel's operations there and likely draw fierce international opposition.

Separately, the State Department said Tuesday that the US embassy helped 17 US citizens and legal permanent residents leave Gaza on Monday.

"We thank our partners in the Israeli and Jordanian governments who made this departure possible," the department said.

Ukrainian drones keep targeting Moscow as foreign leaders arrive for Red Square parade

AGENCIES

WASHINGTON, 7 MAY

Attacks by Ukrainian long-range drones caused flight disruption at Moscow's main airports for a third straight day on Wednesday, authorities said, as Russia prepared to receive the Chinese president and other foreign leaders for the annual Victory Day military parade in Red Square.

Russian flag carrier Aeroflot cancelled more than 100 flights to and from Moscow, while more than 140 flights were delayed.

Israeli strikes across Gaza kill at least 59 as country prepares to ramp up its offensive

AGENCIES

DEIR AL-BALAH, 7 MAY

Israeli strikes across Gaza killed at least 59 people, including women and children, hospital officials said Wednesday, as Israel prepares to ramp up its campaign against Hamas in a devastating war now entering its 20th month.

The strikes included one attack on Tuesday night on a school sheltering hundreds of displaced Palestinians, which killed 27 people, officials from the Al-Aqsa Hospital said, including nine women and three children. It was the fifth time since the war began that the school in central Gaza has been struck.

An early morning strike on another school turned shelter in Gaza City killed 16 people, according to officials at Al-Ahli Hospital, while strikes on targets in other areas killed at least 16 others.

A large column of smoke rose and fires pierced the dark skies above the school shelter in Bureij, a built-up urban refugee camp. Paramedics and rescuers rushed to pull people out from the blaze.

The Israeli military had no immediate comment on the strikes. Israel blames Hamas for the death toll because it operates from civilian infrastructure, including schools.

The new bloodshed comes days after Israel approved a plan to intensify its operations in the Palestinian enclave, which would include seizing Gaza, holding on to captured territories, forcibly displacing Palestinians to southern Gaza and taking control of aid distribution along with private security companies.

Israel is also calling up tens of thousands of reserve soldiers to carry out the plan. Israel says the plan will be gradual and will not be implemented until after US President Donald Trump wraps up his visit to the region later this month.

Senior cardinal urges conclave voters to pick a pope who seeks unity ahead of secret voting ritual

AGENCIES

VATICAN CITY, 7 MAY

With all the pomp, drama and solemnity that the Catholic Church can muster, 133 cardinals on Wednesday began centuries-old rituals to elect a successor to Pope Francis, celebrating a morning Mass before opening the most geographically diverse conclave in the faith's 2,000-year history.

The dean of the College of Cardinals, Cardinal Giovanni Battista Re (photo), presided over the service, urging the voters to set aside all personal interests and find a pope who prizes unity. The world today needs a leader who can awaken consciences, he said.

From the altar of St. Peter's Basilica, Re prayed that the cardinals can agree "on the pope that our time needs," as he offered a final set of marching orders before they enter the Sistine Chapel later Wednesday to begin the secret voting.

Hailing from 70 countries, the cardinals are being sequestered from the outside world, their cellphones surrendered and airwaves around the Vatican jammed to prevent all communications until they find a new leader for the 1.4 billion-member church.

Francis named 108 of the 133 "princes of the church," choosing many pastors in his image from far-flung countries like Mongolia, Sweden and Tonga that had never had a cardinal before.

His decision to surpass the usual limit of 120 cardinal electors and include younger ones from the "global south"

— often marginalised countries with lower economic clout — has injected an unusual degree of uncertainty in a process that is always full of mystery and suspense, with smoke signals telling the world if a pope has been elected or not.

Many cardinals hadn't met one another until last week and lamented they needed more time to get to know each another, raising questions about how long it might take for one man to secure the two-thirds majority, or 89 ballots, necessary to become the 267th pope.

"Wait and see, a little patience, wait and see," said Cardinal Mario Zenari, the Vatican's ambassador to Syria.

US top court allows Trump ban on transgender members of military to take effect, for now

AGENCIES

WASHINGTON, 7 MAY

The Supreme Court on Tuesday allowed President Donald Trump's administration to enforce a ban on transgender people in the military, while legal challenges proceed.

The court acted in the dispute over a policy that presumptively disqualifies transgender people from military service and could lead to the expulsion of experienced, decorated officers.

The court's three liberal justices said they would have kept the policy on hold. Neither the justices in the majority or dissent explained their votes, which is not uncommon in emergency appeals.

Just after beginning his second term in January, Trump moved aggressively to roll back the rights of transgender people.

Among the Republican president's actions was an executive order that claims the sexual identity of transgender service members "conflicts with a soldier's commitment to an honourable, truthful, and disciplined lifestyle, even in one's personal life" and is harmful to military readiness.

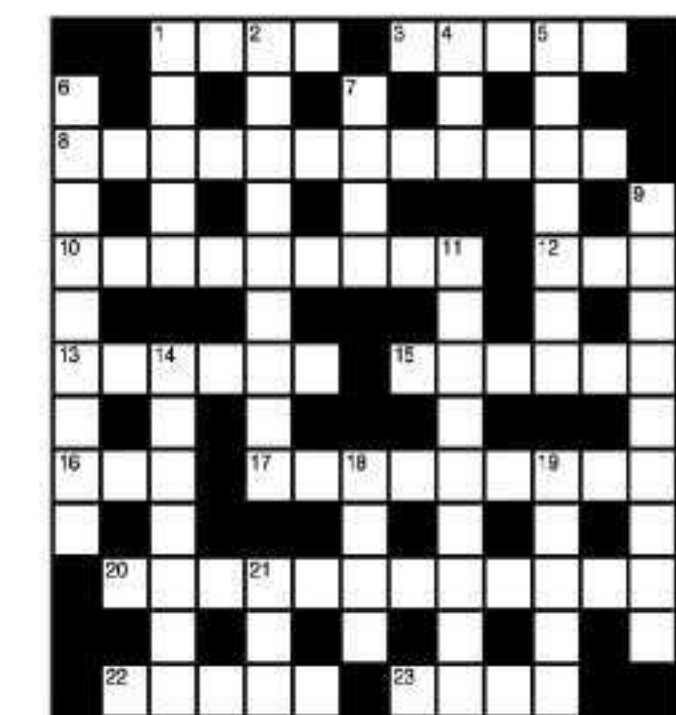

In response, Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth issued a policy in February that gave the military services 30 days to figure out how they would seek out and identify transgender service members to remove them from the force. Those actions had been stalled by the lawsuits.

"No More Trans @DoD," Hegseth wrote in a post on X following Tuesday's Supreme Court order. Earlier in the day, before the court acted, Hegseth said that his department is leaving work- eness and weakness behind. "No more pronouns," he told a special operations forces conference in Tampa. "No more dudes in dresses. We're done with that s—."

Sensex, Nifty end higher post 'Operation Sindoor'

The Sensex closed up 105 points (0.13 per cent) at 80,746, and the Nifty gained 0.14 per cent to finish at 24,414, reclaiming the 24,400 level

AGENCIES
MUMBAI, 7 MAY

Despite high volatility during the trading session on Wednesday, Indian stock markets managed to close in the green.

The Sensex erased all the early losses and closed with a gain of 105 points, or 0.13 per cent at 80,746.

Similarly, the Nifty closed the intra-day trading session with a 0.14 per cent gain at 24,414, reclaiming the crucial 24,400 mark.

"Regarding Nifty, the highest open interest on the call side is concentrated at the 24,500 and 24,400 strike prices, while the highest open interest on the put side is seen at 24,300 and 24,400," said Sundar Kewat of Ashika Institutional Equity.

The Put-Call Ratio (PCR) stands at 0.98, indicating a relatively balanced market sentiment, he added.

The markets opened on a weak note, with early losses triggered by uncertainty in the region. However, confidence returned as the day progressed.

The recovery came as easing global trade tensions, the finalisation of a free trade agreement (FTA) with the United Kingdom, and strong foreign inflows helped offset concerns stemming from rising geopolitical tensions between India and Pakistan.

Support from key sectors such as auto, real estate, and metals helped the indices recover, turning the mood positive by mid-session.

Tata Motors led the rally on the Sensex with a strong 5.2 per cent jump, followed by Bajaj Finance, which gained 2.02 per cent.

Eicher Motors rose 1.41 per cent, matching the gains of Adani Ports, while Titan

Early losses were reversed due to easing global trade tensions, progress on the UK-India FTA, and strong foreign inflows, despite ongoing geopolitical concerns. Gains were led by auto, real estate, metals, and consumer durables. Tata Motors surged 5.2 per cent, followed by Bajaj Finance (2.02 per cent) and Eicher Motors (1.41 per cent). FMCG, pharma, and healthcare were the only laggards. Nifty Midcap 100 and Nifty Smallcap indices each rose around 1.5 per cent, recovering from previous session losses. The Put-Call Ratio stood at 0.98, indicating balanced sentiment.

posting gains of around 1.5 per cent.

Among the sectoral indices, all sectors ended in the green, except for FMCG, pharma, and healthcare.

Leading the gains were auto, media, realty, and consumer durables, each rising over 1 per cent. Meanwhile, market volatility remained elevated as the India VIX - also known as the fear index - rose 3.58 per cent to end at 19.

Indian aluminium sector to stay resilient amidst global trade shifts

AGENCIES
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Indian primary aluminium manufacturers are projected to remain in a healthy profitable state for this fiscal year, countering global trade headwinds, including the recent hike in US tariffs on aluminium imports, according to a report by Crisil Ratings.

The US raised the tariff on aluminium imports to 25 per cent across all countries, which increased India's aluminium tariff from 2.55 per cent to 25 per cent. But, it had a limited impact on India's aluminium exports directly as the US accounts for less than 5 per cent of India's total aluminium exports, limiting the immediate consequences of the tariff increase.

"Strong operating efficiencies, low-cost operations, and favourable global demand-supply balance will keep margins over a solid USD 650 per tonne," Crisil ratings said.

With nearly 50 per cent of India's annual primary aluminium output being exported to international markets, the report says "Indian producers may face heightened competition in their regular overseas markets, as key exporters to the US divert supplies to other geographies."

"While global demand growth may moderate this fiscal, surplus will still be limited. This is because the global aluminium market faces limited risk of oversupply, as smelters in major aluminium-producing countries, including India, have consistently operated at utilisation rates well above 90% per cent," said Ankit Hakhu, Director, Crisil Ratings.

Crisil Ratings indicates that the risk of price volatility could impact profit margins for domestic primary aluminium players. "Realisations for domestic producers are linked to London Metal Exchange (LME) prices," the report states.

Due to the uncertainties regarding global macroeconomic growth post the tariff announcements by the US, the aluminium prices on LME has witnessed a lot of volatility and they moderated to about USD 2,350 per tonne in April 2025 from a peak of USD 2,700 per tonne in March 2025.

Despite this volatility, Crisil anticipates that LME prices will remain above USD 2,300 per tonne on average for the fiscal year, providing a degree of stability for Indian producers, said Ankush Tyagi, Associate Director, Crisil Ratings.

Godrej consumer Q4 profit jumps 65 per cent to ₹432 cr

Godrej Consumer Products has reported a 65 per cent increase in its consolidated net profit at Rs 432.10 crore on a 6.3 per cent increase in net sales to Rs 3,577.81 crore in Q4 FY25 as compared with Q4 FY24, the company officially announced on Wednesday.

The company registered a volume growth of 6 per cent in the fourth quarter, while its standalone business recorded an underlying volume growth of 4 per cent and its sales grew by 8 per cent year-on-year (YoY).

The company's Indonesia business underlying volume grew by 5 per cent and sales grew by 1 per cent in rupee terms and 1 per cent in constant currency terms, on a YoY basis.

Business in Africa, USA, and the Middle East recorded 12 per cent growth in organic

The company posted 6 per cent overall volume growth in Q4, with 4 per cent growth in India and 5 per cent in Indonesia in the same period last year.

For FY25, the company recorded a net profit of Rs 1,896.10 crore (up by 63.8 per cent YoY) and net sales of Rs 14,284.81 crore (up by 2.2 per cent YoY).

A company statement quoted GCPL MD & CEO Sudhir Sitapati saying, "We delivered a sequentially improving performance in Q4 FY 2025, despite market conditions remaining the same. Our consolidated organic volumes for Q4 FY25 grew by 6 per cent, led by the India business growing volumes at 4 per cent and Indonesia growing volumes at 5 per cent. This led to full-year organic volume growth delivery at 4 per cent for our consolidated business, 5 per cent for India and 6 per cent for Indonesia. Our Consolidated organic revenue growth for Q4 and FY 2025 stood at 7 per cent and 4 per cent, respectively."

India emerges as $24 bn opportunity in global climate adaptation and resilience market

AGENCIES
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Amid a projected global surge in demand for climate adaptation and resilience solutions -- estimated to reach between $0.5 and $1.3 trillion by 2030 -- India has emerged as a standout market, offering a $24 billion investment opportunity, a new report said on Wednesday.

As climate risks continue to intensify worldwide, the new report by Boston Consulting Group (BCG) and Temasek highlighted the urgent need for large-scale solutions to build resilience across sectors.

However, despite this growing demand, current global spending on adaptation and resilience solutions remained limited -- hovering around $76 billion annually -- with most of the funding coming from public sources.

This leaves a significant gap that private investment, particularly from private equity firms, has the potential to fill.

The report outlined a variety of fast-growing subsectors ripe for private investment, including flood defence systems, wildfire protection, climate intelligence tools, water efficiency technologies, and more.

These areas are not only critical to managing climate risk but also present strong business cases, with many expected to offer double-digit growth and EBITDA margins of up to 30-40 per cent.

India's role in this investment frontier is especially prominent. Kanchan Samtani, APAC Leader - Corporate Finance and Strategy and India Leader - Principal Investors and Private Equity at BCG, emphasised that India's high climate vulnerability makes it a priority market for resilience-focused investments.

"Emerging markets, and India in particular, are at the forefront of climate vulnerability, therefore offering climate adaptation and resilience opportunity for the private equity industry," Samtani said.

According to Samtani, India is witnessing the formation of distinct value pools where robust financial returns can be matched with meaningful climate impact.

She pointed to strong demand across several sectors, from stormwater drainage infrastructure and climate-resilient construction materials to abiotic stress-protection technologies in agriculture.

"Additional high-potential areas in India include advanced water metering systems, technology-enabled emergency medical services, and bio-stimulant agricultural inputs," she mentioned.

Bank of Baroda releases FY25 and Q4 financial results

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
KOLKATA, 7 MAY

Bank of Baroda has announced its financial results for the quarter and financial year ended 31st March 2025, highlighting a strong performance and robust asset quality. The bank reported a 10.1 per cent year-on-year growth in standalone net profit, reaching an all-time high of INR 19,581 crore for FY25. The consolidated net profit crossed the INR 20,000 crore milestone and stood at INR 20,716 crore.

The bank's global business crossed a significant milestone, reaching INR 27 lakh crore as of 31st March 2025. This growth in profitability was driven by a 14.8 per cent year-on-year rise in non-interest income, which amounted to INR 16,647 crore during FY25. Operating profit grew by 4.7 per cent year-on-year, reaching INR 32,435 crore. Key performance metrics reflect continued strength.

Return on Assets (ROA) remained above 1 per cent at 1.16 per cent, while Return on Equity (ROE) stood at 16.96 per cent for FY25. The global Net Interest Margin (NIM) was 3.02 per cent, with the domestic NIM at 3.18 per cent. The bank continued to maintain strong asset quality. Gross Non-Performing Assets (GNPA) declined by 66 basis points year-on-year to 2.26 per cent, down from 2.92 per cent in FY24. Net NPA (NNPA) also reduced by 10 basis points to 0.58 per cent, compared to 0.68 per cent in the previous year -- marking the lowest GNPA and NNPA levels in the past 13 years. The slippage ratio decreased by 21 basis points to 0.78 per cent for FY25. The bank's balance sheet remains solid with a healthy Provision Coverage Ratio (PCR) of 93.29 per cent with technical write-offs (TWO), and 74.87 per cent without TWO. Credit cost was kept well under control at 0.47 per cent for the year.

Bank of Baroda's global advances grew by 12.8 per cent year-on-year, while domestic advances increased by 13.7 per cent in FY25, supported by a strong retail loan book. Organic retail advances grew by 19.4 per cent, with auto loans growing by 20.3 per cent, mortgage loans by 18.9 per cent, home loans by 17.3 per cent, and education loans by 15.9 per cent. The share of Retail, Agriculture, and MSME (RAM) loans in total advances improved by 190 basis points to 59.6 per cent, with the RAM portfolio growing by 17.5 per cent year-on-year. In recognition of its strong performance, the Bank's Board has recommended a dividend of 418 per cent, subject to requisite approvals.

Paytm delivers profitability breakthrough in Q4, brokerages raise targets

AGENCIES
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Paytm (One97 Communications Limited) has delivered a solid operational turnaround in Q4 FY25, achieving profitability at the EBITDA before ESOP level -- a significant milestone in its path to sustained profits. To this, leading brokerages have responded positively, raising their price targets and highlighting Paytm's improving fundamentals, sharp cost control, and expanding merchant ecosystem.

According to Bernstein, which reiterated its Outperform rating, Paytm has "achieved EBITDA breakeven with PAT profitability in sight."

Bernstein has set a price target of Rs 1,100, implying a potential 35 per cent upside. The brokerage attributed a couple of growth drivers leading to EBITDA before ESOP profitability this quarter.

"A combination of stable payment margins and sequential growth in financial services revenue, coupled with a marginal decline/stable expenses line resulted in Paytm turning profitable on EBITDA before ESOP basis," said the report by the brokerage.

JM Financial echoed this optimism, stating, "Adjusted EBITDA profitability achieved, PAT in focus next quarter". The firm maintained its 'Buy' rating with a raised price target of Rs 1,070. It cited Paytm's contribution margin expansion and disciplined expense control as key positives, along with steady growth in merchant loans and improved collection efficiency that are strengthening the company's financial services business.

Morgan Stanley, while maintaining its view, pointed to Paytm's "strong cost control" and upgraded its EBITDA estimates. The firm highlighted management's confidence in delivering PAT profitability starting Q1 FY26 and noted that Paytm's monthly transacting users (MTUs) are already recovering after recent regulatory headwinds. It retained its Buy call with a price target of Rs 975, projecting a 19 per cent upside. It expects Paytm's revenue and contribution profits to grow at a robust pace, estimating a 28 per cent and 33 per cent CAGR over FY25-27, respectively.

'Operation Sindoor' brings uncertainty to Indian stock market, UK-India FTA offers promising avenue

RITWIK MUKHERJEE
KOLKATA, 7 MAY

The 'Operation Sindoor' has had its toll on the Indian capital markets. The markets have reacted strongly and sharply. And understandably so. The most obvious has happened.

As obvious the attack gives a boost to the Indian defense companies such Hindustan Aeronautics (HAL), Bharat Electronics (BEL), and Bharat Dynamics -- showed an increase. And it does not require any rocket science to understand this. Because conjecture during military operations holds that higher government spending on defence is reflected in the economy.

FII plays a vital role in Indian Market and as we know these players usually pull out if the region experiences some pressure or unrest. Due to this a short-term selling pressure can be seen on the Indian equities, said Ankur Sharma, Market Analyst, VT Markets.

If 'Operation Sindoor' has sparked market volatility, another significant development, which has happened almost simultaneously, has also had its impacts. Actually, the just signed FTA with UK promises to offer Long-Term Relief, according to market analysts.

India began "Operation Sindoor" targeting terrorist infrastructure in Pakistan and Pakistan-administered Kashmir. It is a retaliation of Pahalgam attack where 26 Indians and one Nepalese were killed. While the announcement caused the Indian Stock market react strongly.

As anxiety rises and capital shifts into safer assets like gold and the US Dollar, gold price goes up as it's nature whenever world sees unrest and the Indian Rupee fell somewhat.

Almost simultaneously, the UK-India Free Trade Agreement has turned out to be a hugely Positive Development.

Amidst geopolitical tensions, India and the United Kingdom officially signed a significant Free Trade Agreement (FTA) on 6 May, 2025. This accord aims to increase bilateral trade by $25.5 billion annually by 2040.

Key Highlights are --

- 90 per cent Tariff Reduction on British Goods including automobiles, whisky, and machinery.
- UK based service companies can have more access to Indian Markets making the legal formalities easy for setup which result in more jobs for Indians and the UK is expecting it's GDP increase by $4.8 billion yearly.

This agreement is anticipated for India to boost exports -- particularly in textiles and food goods -- and draw more foreign capital.

"While the War situation brings uncertainty to the Indian Stock Market the UK-India FTA presents a promising avenue for economic growth. Investors and market participants will closely monitor these developments," said Sharma.

Inter beat Barcelona in thriller to reach Champions League final

Italian giants dig deep to edge out former European champions 7-6 on aggregate in edge-of-the-seat drama

AGENCIES
MILAN, 7 MAY

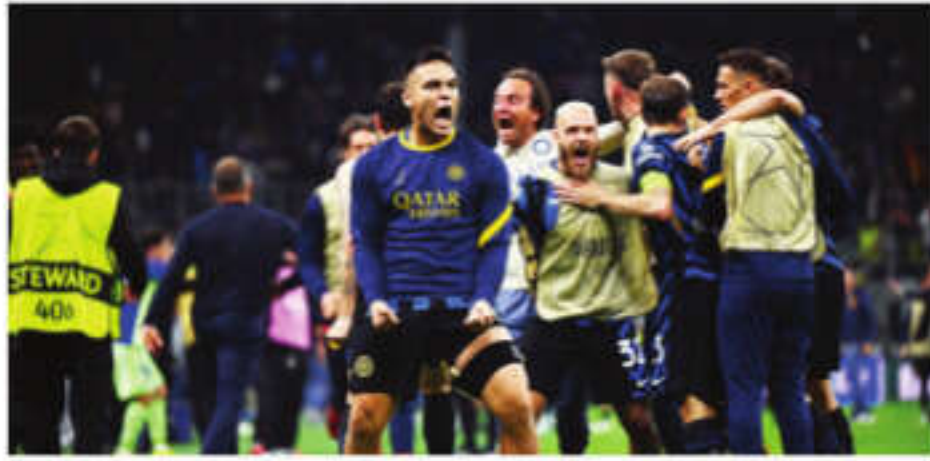

Inter Milan have another Champions League final to look forward to. Once the players catch their breath, that is.

In the end it took extra time, two astonishing come-backs and 13 goals to separate Barcelona and Inter and see the Italian club — who were mere seconds away from elimination — prevail 7-6 on aggregate after winning another rollercoaster encounter.

Inter Milan advanced to the UEFA Champions League final after a dramatic 4-3 extra-time victory over Barcelona on Wednesday (IST), securing a 7-6 aggregate win in the semifinal second leg at San Siro.

The seven-time finalists, who last reached the title match in 2023, will seek their fourth European crown when they face either Arsenal or Paris Saint-Germain in the final at Munich's Allianz Arena on 31 May. Substitute Davide Fratesi was the extra-time star for Inter, firing home in the 99th minute to leave the Barcelona players slumped to the ground while his Nerazzurri teammates — including those on the bench — were racing to celebrate with him. Three-time European champions Inter, who had lost the 2023 final to Manchester City, will face either Paris Saint-Germain or Arsenal in Munich on 31 May for the title. PSG beat Arsenal 1-0 in London last week in their first match. The return leg is Wednesday in Paris.

Lautaro Martinez opened the scoring in the 21st minute, finishing from close range after Federico Dimarco dispossessed Frenkie de Jong near the touchline, allowing Denzel Dumfries to whip in a precise cross. Martinez then won a penalty just before halftime after being brought down in the box, and Hakan Calhanoglu converted from the spot to give Inter a 2-0 lead. There was little sign at halftime of the drama which was about to be played out.

Barcelona then mounted a second-half comeback. Gerard Martin's cross found Eric Garcia, who volleyed in from inside the area in the 54th minute. Six minutes later, Dani Olmo leveled the match with a powerful header, again from a Martin delivery. Raphinha appeared to win it for the visitors in the 87th minute, tapping home a rebound to make it 3-2.

But Inter struck back deep into stoppage time. Dumfries delivered another low cross from the right that found Francesco Acerbi, whose finish forced extra time and reignited the home crowd.

The winner came in the 99th minute, when Marcus Thuram broke down the right and cut the ball back for Mehdi Taremi, who laid it off to Davide Fratesi. The Italian midfielder curled a shot into the far corner to complete Inter's stunning comeback and seal a place in the final. The two-legged tie produced 13 goals, equaling the record for the most in a Champions League knockout round match-up. Inter previously won the competition in 1964, 1965 and 2010.

Barcelona, five-time European champions, were denied a return to the final for the first time since 2015.

Roshan Singh extends contract with Bengaluru

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
BENGALURU, 7 MAY

Bengaluru FC, on Wednesday, announced that full-back Naorem Roshan Singh has signed a new four-year deal with the club, committing his future to the Blues until the end of the 2028-29 season. Roshan, who joined the club as a teenager in 2017, progressed through the side's Reserve Team before making his Indian Super League (ISL) debut in 2020.

"I'm really happy to have extended my journey with BFC, a club where I've grown as both a player and a person. The support of my teammates, the love of the fans, and the city have made this an easy decision for me.

I feel at home here in Bengaluru, and I'm looking forward to making more memories in the BFC shirt," Roshan said, after completing the formalities on his deal.

Versatile in his ability to function down either flank as a full-back, Roshan has made 91 appearances in the Indian Super League, racking up 14 assists and two goals in the process. The 26-year-old has also appeared in two ISL finals while also winning the Durand Cup in 2022.

In the most recent 2024-25 season, Roshan was one of only two players to appear in every single ISL fixture for the Blues, making 28 appearances in total alongside club captain Sunil Chhetri.

"Roshan is a player we've seen grow from a teenager in our B Team to a regular starter for the first team, and he's also an Indian international now.

JADEJA RETAINS TOP SPOT

Star India spinner Ravindra Jadeja remained at the top, whereas Bangladesh cricketer Mehidy Hasan Miraz rose in the latest ICC Men's Test Player Rankings for all-rounders. Miraz gained one place to move to second overall on the latest rankings for Test all-rounders on the back of his heroics for Bangladesh in their recent Test series against Zimbabwe, with Jadeja's lead at the top now under 100 rating points BCCI gets government clearance to host PBKS vs DC match in Dharamshala: The BCCI has received clearance from the Indian government to host match between Punjab Kings (PBKS) and Delhi Capitals (DC) match on Thursday of the ongoing IPL 2025 in Dharamshala. However, the May 11 match has been shifted from Dharamshala to Mumbai, and the new date for the match will be updated soon. As Dharamshala is located near the India-Pakistan border, there might be a threat at this venue, so there is a chance that the Punjab-based franchise will play their remaining home matches at a different place. "BCCI gets clearance from the government to host tomorrow's match in Dharamshala, but the 11 May match shifted to Mumbai from Dharamshala, the fresh date for the match will be updated soon," a BCCI official told the media. PBKS' next fixture against Mumbai Indians (MI) at Dharamshala is also reworked as the airlines have cancelled their flight operations in 11 cities across north, northwestern and central India till 10 May including Srinagar, Jammu, Amritsar, Leh, Chandigarh, Dharamshala, Bikaner, Jodhpur, Gwalior, Kishangarh, and Rajkot. "The match between Mumbai Indians and Punjab Kings shifted to Mumbai from Dharamshala, as the Airport of Dharamshala has been closed, and the match was scheduled on 11 May," a BCCI official said.

With play-offs at stake, DC aim for course correction vs Punjab Kings

Currently at 5th, Delhi will hope to shake off a dismal run of form and boost their chances for the knockout stage

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Desperate to get their campaign back on track, Delhi Capitals will hope to arrest their recent string of dismal performances, that includes three losses and a no result due to rain in their last five matches when they take on a confident Punjab Kings in a league match of the Indian Premier League (IPL) in Dharamshala on Thursday.

Placed fifth in the IPL table with 13 points from 11 matches, the Capitals are in dire need of consistency from all departments. On the other hand, Punjab Kings are high on confidence after winning seven of their 11 matches, and are comfortably sitting at the third spot with 15 points. Heading into the contest, the Axar Patel-led side will expect their misfiring top and middle order to get their act together if they are to secure themselves of a place in the play-offs. Having started the tournament with four consecutive wins, Delhi Capitals had themselves to blame for the situation they are presently in, as they failed to cash in on the home advantage at the Arun Jaitley Stadium where they could manage just a solitary win, that too via a Super Over.

In their previous match, Delhi's batting vulnerabilities were exposed by a disciplined Sunrisers Hyderabad attack that reduced them to 29 for 5 before eventually restricted them to 133. DC's top order lacked the confidence.

Karun Nair's promotion as an opener in the last game backfired as he was dismissed for a duck, while South African Faf du Plessis also perished early trying to force a boundary on a bowler-friendly pitch. Abishek Porel has failed to capitalise on his starts, leaving DC at the mercy of the middle and lower order.

The burden fell on KL Rahul, their leading run-getter this season with 381 runs, but the right-hander can't always be expected to bail out the side, and even Axar himself was dismissed early. While DC still have depth in their batting line-up, and it was the effort of Tristan Stubbs, bowling all-rounder Vipraj Nigam, and Ashutosh that helped them post a fighting total, they will expect the top order to set the tone. Meanwhile, their opponents are flying high on confidence after an impressive season so far. In contrast to Delhi's top order woes, Punjab's top order has been rock solid, with Prabhsimran Singh providing flying starts and accumulating 437 runs as an opener.

His opening partner Priyansh Arya, with 347 runs, has made the most of his chances, while skipper Shreyas Iyer has been in red-hot form with the bat and astute as captain. He has scored 405 runs, including four fifties. The middle order looks a compact unit with Nehal Wadhwa and Shashank Singh stepping up when required. It will be interesting to see how DC's bowling attack, comprising Mitchell Starc and the spin trio of Kuldeep Yadav, Axar Patel, and Vipraj Nigam, cope with PBKS's firepower. The team will expect more from pace duo Dushmantha Chameera and Marcus Stoinis—has complemented the duo well.

PBKS' bowling looks a formidable unit with Arshdeep Singh leading from the front in the powerplay, taking 16 wickets, including three in the last game against LSG. For Punjab, leg-spinner Yuzvendra Chahal's return to form is also a good sign heading into the business end of the tournament. Chahal has so far taken 14 wickets, including a hat-trick against CSK. The rest of the attack — Marco Jansen, Azmatullah Omarzai, Vijaykumar Vyshak and Marcus Stoinis—has complemented the duo well.

Squads:
Delhi Capitals: Axar Patel (c), Jake Fraser-McGurk, Abishek Porel, Karun Nair, KL Rahul (wk), Tristan Stubbs, Ashutosh Sharma, Vipraj Nigam, Mitchell Starc, Kuldeep Yadav, Mohit Sharma, Mukesh Nalkande, Sameer Rizvi, Darshan Nalkande, Donovan Ferreira, Tripurana Vijay, Dushmantha Chameera, Faf du Plessis, T Natarajan, Ajay Jadav Mandal, Manvath Kumar L, Madhav Tiwari.
Punjab Kings: Shreyas Iyer (c), Yuzvendra Chahal, Arshdeep Singh, Marcus Stoinis, Nehal Wadhwa, Glenn Maxwell, Vysakh Vijaykumar, Yash Thakur, Harpreet Brar, Vishnu Vinod, Marco Jansen, Lockie Ferguson, Josh Inglis, Xavier Bartlett, Kuldeep Sen, Pyla Avinash, Suryansh Shedge, Musheer Khan, Harnoor Pannu, Aaron Hardie, Priyansh Arya, Azmatullah Omarzai.

Rohit Sharma retires from Test cricket with immediate effect

TRIDIB BAPARNASH
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Rohit Sharma has announced his retirement from Test cricket with immediate effect.

"Hello everyone I would just like to share that I am retiring from Test cricket. It's been an absolute honour to represent my country in whites. Thank you for all the love and support over the years. I will continue to represent India in the ODI format," Rohit, who had retired from T20Is after leading India to the T20 World title in the Americas last year, announced in a social media post on Wednesday.

Rohit retires from Test cricket after featuring in 67 matches, scoring 4301 runs with a highest score of 212. He has 12 centuries and 18 fifties, along with two wickets with his part-time off-spin.

Rohit's retirement will force India to name a new full-time captain almost immediately at the end of IPL 2025, with India's five-Test series in England scheduled to begin on 20 June at Headingley.

Pace spearhead Jasprit Bum-rah is currently the team's vice captain and led in the first and last Tests in Australia in Rohit's absence.

Rohit's lean patch in Tests

Battling a prolonged lean patch, the 37-year-old Rohit's decision comes after dismal performances in the home series against Bangladesh and New Zealand late last year and then a horror tour of Australia across December 2024 and January 2025, where he crossed 50 just once and averaged 10.93 from eight Test matches. While India won both the Tests against Bangladesh, but were swept 3-0 by New Zealand for the first time at home under Rohit's captaincy, and then lost the Border-Gavaskar Trophy series in Australia 3-1.

Rohit missed the first and last Tests on that tour of Australia, the first to be at home in India for the birth of his child, and the last, in Sydney, where he "stood down".

At the time, he had stressed that it was just that, a reaction to his poor batting form, not a "retirement decision", and that he was not "going to take myself out of the game".

Speaking to Star Sports, during the Test match, Rohit had said, "I sat out of this match because runs are not coming off my bat. There is no guarantee runs won't come five or two months down the line. I have seen a lot in cricket that life changes every second, every minute, every day. I have confidence in me that things can change, but at the same time I have to be realistic as well. So life won't change by what people with a mic, pen or laptop write or say. They can't decide when we should retire, when we should sit out, when we should captain. I am a sensible man, mature man, father of two kids. So I know what I need in life," he added.

As a leader in the longest format, Rohit captained India in 24 Test matches, winning 12 and losing 9. While stepping away from the oldest format, Rohit confirmed that he will continue to be available for selection in ODIs.

The departure of Rohit from Test cricket marks the end of an era, as Indian cricket bids farewell to one of its most elegant stroke-makers in whites.

Shotgun WC: Abhay Singh Sekhon raises final hopes

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Abhay Singh Sekhon, the youngest member of the Indian men's skeet shooting trio at the International Shooting Sport Federation (ISSF) World Cup Shotgun in Nicosia, Cyprus, raised hopes of a final entry, ending day two of qualifications in fifth place and a tally of 98 after four rounds.

The Punjab youngster was just one off the pace, with former world champion and Olympic silver medalist Jesper Hansen of Denmark and former junior world champion Elia Sdrucchioli of Italy, leading the 91-strong field with 99 hits each.

Abhay (25,24,24,25) had missed just one target over two rounds on Monday and repeated the feat on day two Tuesday, only this time finishing with a perfect round instead of beginning with one. He has six other strong shooters for company on the same tally and the fight for the top six finalists on day three, will likely go down to the last shot and multiple shoot-offs, ahead of the final.

Among other Indians in the fray, double Olympian Mairaj Ahmad Khan shot 95 (24,24,24,23) to be in 36th place while Ritu Raj Bundela shot 90 (23,21,23,23) for 68th spot in the men's standings.

In women's skeet, Paris Olympian Maheshwari Chauhan had a better day with two rounds of 25 and 24 each, giving her a two-day tally of 93 and 16th place in the standings.

Parinaaz Dhaliwal (23,24,20,25) had a tough third round but finished with a 25 to lie 19th, a point behind Maheshwari, while Yashasvi Rathore (18,23,24,21) with 88 was in 38th position.

On the opening day of the competition, Indian skeet shooters had a mixed first day of qualification with Abhay Singh Sekhon in the men's event returning the best numbers off the six Indians on show, going into day two in 14th spot with a tally of 49 (25,24) hits out of 50 targets. Eight in the 92-strong men's field strung perfect rounds of 25 each and Abhay was among a chasing pack of 13, who missed one target.

Olympian and senior pro Mairaj Khan missed a target a round, and also be well in contention in 32nd spot, while the third Indian in men's skeet Rituraj Bundela (23,21), was further down with six misses.

KIYG: Hours after grandfather's death, gritty Ayush inspires Bihar to Sepak Takraw silver

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

It was a day of mixed emotions for Ayush Kumar, who showcased remarkable grit and determination as part of the Bihar team that underlined its rising stature in Sepak Takraw by clinching the men's team silver after going down 1-2 to powerhouse Manipur in a tantalising final of the Khelo India Youth Games 2025 on Tuesday.

Manipur girls ensured their dominance continued as they joined their State-mates on top of the podium after beating Kerala 2-0 in the summit clash.

The final matches of the Sepak Takraw event, making its debut in the Khelo India Youth Games 2025 Bihar, were played in front of a packed crowd, reflecting the State's growing passion for the sport, which is now among its 14 priority disciplines.

Ayush, a member of the third Regu in the team competition, competed despite suffering a personal loss earlier in the day with the passing of his 78-year-old grandfather. Standing firm in the face of adversity, he chose to continue until the very end of the competition.

On the sidelines, his 19-year-old sister Khusbu, a Sepak Takraw player herself, tried to contain her grief while cheering for her younger brother. With teary eyes and a phone in hand to stay updated on the rituals back home, she managed to stay strong, often stepping aside to cry in private, just to ensure Ayush remained focused on the game. "He (grandfather) was unwell for some time, was in the hospital for the last few days. We were expecting him to get better, but he passed away today. He was really close to both of us and today is probably the biggest day in Ayush's career so far," said

Khusbu.

Born to an auto-driver from the city, Ayush and his sister started their journey in the sport only four years back but hope that the KIYG medal will not only inspire him but other budding athletes to take up Sepak Takraw as a career. Despite the personal setback, the 14-year-old Ayush Kumar managed to keep his emotions under check on the court, as the Bihar team came up with impressive performances throughout, to eventually finish a close second.

The men's final witnessed a tantalising contest with the pendulum swinging till the final set of the third Regu. After Manipur comfortably took the first Regu, Bihar bounced back in style to win the second and take the contest to the decider. In the final Regu, Manipur came back from a 1-0 deficit to take the next two sets and eventually the top spot on the podium.

In contrast, the women's final witnessed a one-sided contest with Manipur girls dominating the court throughout. Earlier, Manipur sailed into the final after getting the better of Andhra Pradesh 2-0 in the first semi-final while Kerala defeated Haryana by a similar margin to advance to the gold medal contest.

'A crime': Hardik on the three no-balls against GT

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, 7 MAY

Moments after Gujarat Titans successfully clinched the nervy last-ball affair against Mumbai Indians to cement their place atop the IPL 2025 points table, MI skipper Hardik Pandya reflected on the loss and said that than Tilak Varma's dropped catch off Shubman Gill (on 35, he made 43), the three no-balls - two from him and one from Deepak Chahar in the final over - were a "crime" that cost them victory.

Hardik bowled two no-balls in the eighth over, which went for 18. But crucially, defending 14 in the final over, Chahar bowled a no-ball at a vital juncture as MI lost a rain-affected thriller against Gujarat Titans (GT) in Mumbai.

"The catches didn't really cost us. We were very clinical with that. Maybe definitely with the no-balls, with my no-ball and even the last [over] no-ball," Hardik said.

"That, in my eyes, indeed it's a crime, and most often than not it kind of bites you. It definitely did to us, but at the same point of time, really happy with the boys giving their 120 per cent and making sure that we were in the game and not giving up."

Sent into bat, MI stumbled to reach 155 for 8, despite a half-century from Will Jacks. They lost 6 for 58 in the last 9.3 overs before the bowlers brought MI back into the game.

"It was definitely not a 150 wicket. I think it was a 175 [surface]. We were definitely short in batting by 20-25 runs or maybe 30 runs if you would have batted well. But I think credit to the bowlers, they kept fighting and they kept bowling at the right areas."

"In the first innings, the ground was not wet. Post that, throughout the whole innings, the ball kept getting wetter. I don't know if it helped us or not helped us, but yeah, it was difficult. Rain kept coming in. It's always not really ideal to have a stoppage and start again and have a stoppage. But the game goes on," he analysed.

Gill, meanwhile, said the conditions at the start of GT's chase "felt like a Test match" with the fast bowlers getting plenty of movement. There was a strong wind blowing while the rain made batting hard work.

"The game plans were definitely different when we were playing in the powerplay. There was wind and a little bit of rain and just the atmosphere was such, it felt like a Test match for the first four to five overs," Gill said.

"We just had to play proper, normal cricket and once the powerplay was over, we thought now we will try to play our normal game a little bit more. But the rain kept coming in. It's not easy in a T20 match, if there is such a long break to be able to come back and start the game," he added.

Fines for Pandya, Nehra
Meanwhile, Pandya and Gujarat Titans head coach Ashish Nehra have been fined for isolated incidents regarding the Code of Conduct breach.

While Hardik and his team-mates (including the impact sub Karn Sharma) was penalised for maintaining a slow over-rate during Tuesday's last-ball thriller, Nehra was penalised for breach of conduct.

In the stop-start second half of the match, when rain took the players off and brought them back in a few times, MI had to bring an additional fielder into the 30-yard circle for the final over - the 19th - of the chase as the in-game penalty norm in the IPL. GT needed 15 runs to get off that Deepak Chahar and got over the line off the last ball.

Hardik was fined INR 24 lakh, since this was the second time MI had committed the offence under his captaincy this season.

His team-mates were each fined either INR 6 lakh or 25 per cent of their respective match fees, whichever is lesser.

Nehra, meanwhile, was at his animated best during the dying minutes of the game, when it looked like he wanted the umpires to restart the game after the latest rain interruption.

His conduct during the game was deemed as Level 1 offence under Article 2.20 - which pertains to conduct that is contrary to the spirit of the game.

The former India left-arm pacer was fined 25 percent of his match fees for the same and also handed one demerit point, though the IPL didn't state what exactly his offence was.

He admitted to the Level 1 offence under Article 2.20 - which pertains to the conduct that is contrary to the spirit of the game - and accepted the Match Referee's sanction.

For Level 1 breaches of the Code of Conduct, the Match Referee's decision is final and binding.

This is the second time a coach has been penalised with a demerit point for a breach of the IPL's code. Munaf Patel, the Delhi Capitals (DC) bowling coach, was similarly penalised after their Super Over win against Rajasthan Royals (RR) in Delhi on 16 April.
